SOVIET ORBITS 3 IN SPACE SHIP

1st Multiple Crew Includes Pilot, Doctor, Scientist

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union rocketed a space ship into orbit today carrying a pilot, a scientist and a doctor — the world's first space vehicle to carry more than one person. An official announcement said it was sent aloft by a powerful kind of rocket.

As the space ship circled the earth every 90 minutes, the pilot messaged that all instruments were working well, the physician examined his colleagues and they had lunch. The space ship is named Voshkod—Sunrise.

Aboard were Col. Vladimir Komarov, the pilot; Konstantine Feoktistov, scientist; and Dr. Boris Yegorov, physician.

The booster rocket sent the space ship into an orbit that ranged from 255 miles to 110 miles above the earth, an official announcement said. Some scientists abroad considered this historic first one more big step in the Soviet race with the United States to the moon.

The United States plans to launch its first two-man vehicle some time early next year.

There was no indication how long the space craft — its size and weight not given — would remain aloft. But the official Tass news agency said this first manned orbit by the Soviet Union since the summer of 1963 was designed to test the effects of weightlessness and other stresses on man on a long flight. This was a hint the craft might break the old record of almost five days.

In the last flight, in June 1963, Lt. Col. Valery F. Bykovsky stayed aloft 54 minutes short of five days and later suffered from various ailments from the long period of weightlessness.

A taped television broadcast from the space ship today showed the occupants smiling. The film was dim and it was impossible to tell the size of the space cabin. All three men wore helmets.

"Two-way radio communications are maintained," said Tass. "The ship's crew report they withstood quite well the launch and the transition to weightlessness. All three feel fine."

The announcement gave no indication how long the ship would stay aloft.

Tass said purposes of the flight included: Test the new "multi-seat guided spaceship;" check the capacity to work together during space flight of a group of workers; scientific, physical and technical investigations in the conditions of space flight; study the effect of space flight on cosmonauts, and "carry out extended medico-biological research in the conditions of a long flight."

It was not clear, however, whether this latter meant the flight would be a long one.

Tass said Voskhod was launched at 10:30 a.m. (2:30 a.m. EST).

The announcement said the orbiting was accomplished "by means of a new powerful launch vehicle." No details were given.

"All systems on board the spaceship are functioning normally," Tass said.

The last previous Soviet cosmonauts in orbit were Valerian Bykovsky and Valentina Tereshkova, the first space woman.

In separate space ships in June 1963, Bykovsky made 81 orbits in five days and Tereshkova made 48 orbits during the latter part of Bykovsky's flight.

Soviet scientists later revealed that the long period of weightlessness caused Bykovsky to suffer temporary effects of low blood pressure, fatigue, emotional and balance instability, and some alterations to bodily chemical properties.

This has put a limit to space flights of about two weeks until the problems can be solved, the scientists said. There was no indication how long the three-man craft would stay up.

The United States is planning to orbit its first two-man spacecraft early next year.

Komarov is 37, married and the father of two children. Feoktistov is 38, also married and has a small son. The doctor at 27 is the youngest member of the crew. He too is married and has a son.

The announcement 75 minutes after the launching was heralded on Moscow radio and television by chimes that mean something important is coming.

The three-man satellite is the seventh manned Soviet space flight in 3½ years. It carries cosmonauts seven, eight and nine.

The United States has put four astronauts into orbit. The longest flight was on May 15, 1963, when Air Force Maj. Gordon Cooper made 22 orbits.

The Soviet Union's longest manned space flight was 81 orbits in five days of June 1963.

Tass said Voskhod's orbit reached a maximum height of about 255 miles and a minimum height of about 110 miles.

Announcing completion of Voskhod's first loop around the earth, Tass said the crew radioed to the earth: "Feeling fine, the assignment will be carried out."

Expert Says Reds Retain Berlin Stand

Russia Wants U.S. Troops Out Of City, Top Adviser Claims

BERLIN (AP)—Former U.S. foreign-policy adviser Robert D. Murphy thinks the Soviet Union is as determined as ever to drive the United States and its Allies out of West Berlin.

Murphy said in an interview here Sunday he believes the present absence of pressure in Berlin results not from a Soviet desire for an entente with the West but because of Soviet difficulties with Red China and Moscow's other international problems.

"I think that their determination is just as positive today as it ever was to drive us out of West Berlin," Murphy declared.

Murphy was political adviser to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower during World War II and to Gen. Lucius D. Clay, then military governor of the U.S. Zone of Germany, when the Russians blockaded Berlin in 1948. He retired from the U.S. Foreign Service in 1959 and is president of a glass company.

Murphy said if the Russians should blockade Berlin again, the United States should break it by force.

"I think our position world wide and in Europe would be shattered if we did not," the former international troubleshooter for Presidents Roosevelt and Truman declared.

Murphy also advocated firm action if the Communists close East Berlin to Allied military personnel in uniform. He said the U.S. government seems prepared to agree to a denial of Allied access to the Soviet sector and that this would be "simply another step backward in the process of forcing us out of the area."

"I think that goes further than that because I believe that this Eastern sector has to be opened up in one way or another, and I think it can be done over a period of time," Murphy said.

"I think this wall must disappear. I believe that if they understand that to be our determination and objective, the chance of getting it will be much greater than if we just walk away as we have in the past."

Army Moves On Disease At Fort Ord

Pentagon Suspends Training In Effort To Halt Meningitis

FT. ORD, Calif. (AP) — The Army has taken drastic measures to curb the spread of spinal meningitis at its basic training facility at Ft. Ord. The measures include the discontinuation of recruit training at the base for four weeks.

The Defense Department said in Washington it had acted on a series of recommendations by the Army's surgeon general, Lt. Gen. Leonard Heaton. Heaton made the recommendations after he met with Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Sen. Pierre Salinger in Los Angeles.

The department said these steps will be taken:

Basic training at Ft. Ord will be interrupted for the month of December. The assignment of new basic trainees to the facility will be suspended immediately.

Trainees at the post now will not be given the usual two weeks' leave after basic training. They will proceed immediately with advanced training and leave will be given later.

Only parents will be allowed to visit basic trainees at the fort. The department said parents will be allowed because meningitis seldom infects older persons.

The department said the measures will be put into effect immediately.

Brown and Salinger and other political leaders had asked the Army to quarantine the base until the disease had been eliminated. Eighty-four persons, either stationed at the camp or relatives of soldiers, have been infected with the disease. Thirteen of them have died.

The Army has not reported a case of the disease at the base this month.

2 On School Bus Hurt In Accident

Two children and an East End man were injured in a collision of a school bus and car during the heavy fog at 7:50 a. m. today at the intersection of Park Way Ext. and Dairy Ln.

No one apparently was hurt in a three - car crash at the site just a few minutes later.

The State Highway Patrol said the crash involved a St. Aloysius Parochial School bus operated by Raymond G. Campbell, 29, of Park Way and a car driven by Frank W. Bookman, 24, of 1051 Ohio Ave. The bus is owned by Tri - State Transit Co.

The bus was rammed on the left side by the Brookman car, officers said.

THERE WERE eight children on the bus.

Thomas Carnes, 9, son of Fred Carnes of Park Way Ext., suffered a laceration of the right eyelid and Theresa Warren, 11, daughter of Harry Warren of Calcutta, had contusions of the scalp.

Bookman suffered an injury to his left shoulder. All were treated at City Hosptal. The others were examined, but apparently were not hurt.

City police went to the scene to remain on standy until the patrol arrived.

EAST LIVERPOOL Patrolman Orin C. Smith, the first to arrive at the scene, said the bus was making a left turn from Dairy Ln. en route toward the city and the motorist was traveling toward Calcutta.

The auto struck the bus almost broadside and was wedged partially under the bus after striking the rear wheels, the officer said.

Another motorist halted at the scene. His car was hit in the rear minutes later by another vehicle which, in turn, was struck from the rear by the fifth vehicle.

Four of the five vehicles at the scene had to be towed away, including the bus.

Some pupils were brought to the hospital for treatment and others were taken to the school in the cruiser.

Court Plans Cuban Travel Ban Review

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to review a decision that the secretary of state may prohibit travel of U.S. citizens to Cuba.

The decision was given by a three-judge U.S. district court in New Haven, Conn., in a case filed by Louis Zemel. His counsel appealed directly to the Supreme Court, contending the case raised substantial questions as to the secretary's authority to restrict forgein travel of citizens "in peacetime, and the constitutionality of such action."

Zelem, a U.S. citizen, in 1962 held a passport which he requested the passport office in Washington to validate for travel to Cuba as a tourist. His request was denied with the explanation that only persons whose travel might be in the best interests of the United States, such as newsmen and businessmen with previously established interests, were eligible.

Zemel later filed his complaint in federal court in New Haven. He said he wished to satisfy his curiosity about the state of affairs in Cuba so as to make him a better-informed citizen.

Noise Marks Final British Ballot Drives

Candidates Deplore Campaign Heckling On Eve Of Election

LONDON (AP) — Britain's rowdy national election campaign moved into its final phase today with subtle political arguments drowned in a rising tide of noise and disorder.

Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, 61, the Conservative party leader, and Harold Wilson, 48, the Laborite chieftain, shouted themselves hoarse in an efffort to be heard above the din.

Their lot and that of their colleagues was hard. In meeting after meeting, attendants have had to frog-march hecklers from halls and toss them out of doors.

Tempers shortened with the approach of the voting Thursday.

About 28 million British men and women will elect a new 630-seat House of Commons and give either the Conservative or the Labor party a mandate to govern this country for the next five years.

If the Conservatives win, Douglas-Home will remain prime minister. Wilson will replace him at No. 10 Downing St. if the Labor party wins.

Raps 'Against' Policy

Johnson Pushes Far West Drive

RENO, Nev. (AP) — President Johnson said today Barry Goldwater sees the government as such a terrible thing that he seems to be "running against the office of president, instead of for it."

Johnson took the slap at his Republican rival as the President swung into what promised to be a 20-hour day of campaigning in five Western states —Nevada, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and Idaho.

Goldwater was not mentioned by name. But Johnson, in a speech in Reno, left no doubt about his target.

"One candidate," he said, "is roaming around the country saying what a terrible thing the government is. Sometimes I think he is running against the office of president, instead of for it."

"We here in the West," said Johnson, "know how the West was won. It wasn't won by a man on a horse who thought he could settle every argument with a quick draw and a shot from the hip.

"We here in the West aren't about to turn in our sterling silver American heritage for a plastic credit card that reads: 'Shoot now, pay later.' "

And, Johnson said, the West wasn't settled "in saloon fights or by galloping vigilantes" but rather by sober and responsible men and women.

The President spent the night in Nevada, talking to local politicians and resting in the penthouse of the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas.

Roulette wheels whirred and slot machines played their tinkling melody more than 20 stories below him. But he never saw these features of Las Vegas life since his route to and from his quarters was remote from the bustling casino.

The President flew to Nevada after a Sunday that saw him go to church — "The first day of the week belongs to God" — in Goldwater's hometown of Phoenix, Ariz. Later, he did some speechmaking, which wasn't exactly nonpolitical, in Long

Threats Alert President's Police Guard

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two anonymous telephone warnings and a brush with a placard bearer worried President Johnson's bodyguards during his Western campaign swing, but no trouble materialized.

A youth whose Goldwater-Miller placard grazed the President's hat Sunday in Phoenix was released by police after questioning.

Police found a revolver in a pocket of another youth. He said he was carrying it to protect the President. Phoenix police released him later on bail.

As the President rode through the Long Beach, Calif., area later in the day, Secret Service men were aware that local authorities had received reports of two telephone calls, one warn-

Unity Urged In Episcopal Policy Parley

Changes Indicated By Denomination's Convention Leaders

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Episcopal Church, which regards itself a "bridge" between Protestantism and Catholicism, went into policy - making sessions today after hearing a plea to act—and not just talk—in behalf of Christian unity.

The church's presiding bishop, the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, also urged Christians to translate their principles into deeds on contemporary issues of social justice.

But there were dissenting voices concerning both matters.

There also were signs of change as the 3.5-million-member denomination's triennial general convention began work in an era of mounting and unprecedented fraternity among different churches.

For the first time, three Roman Catholic priests are attending the two-week meeting as observers. So are several Eastern Orthodox churchmen. An "Ecumenical Day" has been scheduled later this week in which Episcopal representatives will meet at various seminaries for discussions with Catholic, Lutheran and other church theologians.

Hunt Pushed For Kidnaped U.S. Officer

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A force of 3,000 police and National Guardsmen pressed the search today for the deputy chief of the U.S. Air Force mission to Venezuela who was kidnaped by Communist terrorists.

A caller identifying himself as a leader of the outlawed pro-Castroite Armed Forces of National Liberation (FALN) said the terrorists would try Lt. Col. Michael Smolen before a secret tribunal on charges of interfering in Venezuelan affairs.

Worried officials conceded they had no clues in the abduction of the 45-year-old Chandler, Ariz., officer from in front of his Caracas home Friday morning by five armed terrorists.

Identifying himself as Commandante Tulio of the FALN, the caller said the kidnaping was in reprisal for a military crackdown on the FALN guerrillas.

Harris Poll Indicates Slight Goldwater Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—The latest poll by Louis Harris says Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater picked up small support since a similar survey made in mid-September.

The poll results reported Sunday night showed 58 per cent of the voters polled favored President Johnson and 34 per cent supported Goldwater.

Eight per cent of those polled still had not made a choice, the poll showed.

The results showed a 2 per cent boost in favor of Goldwater over the mid-September poll.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Eddie Cantor will be buried as he spent most of the last 11 years of his life — apart from the public that made him a top star during a golden era of American entertainment.

Groman Mortuary announced today that funeral services for the 72-year-old comedian, who died of a heart attack Saturday night, will be private.

Cantor was the last of a trio of great comedy figures to pass from the Hollywood scene in recent weeks. Gracie Allen of the Burns and Allen team died Aug. 27, and Harpo Marx of the Marx Brothers succumbed two weeks ago.

Cantor died at his Beverly Hills home. Two of his daughters, Mrs. Natalie Metzger and Mrs. Edna McHugh, were at his bedside. Two other daughters, Marilyn Cantor and Mrs. Janet Gari, live in New York. A fifth daughter, Marjorie, who had been the comedian's secretary, died of cancer May 17, 1959.

Cantor was born Edward Iskowitz in New York City Jan. 31, 1892. He came out of the slums with a vitality that soon captured audiences wherever he performed. A small man, he possessed enormous energy.

Groman Mortuary announced today that funeral services for the 72-year-old comedian, who died of a heart attack Saturday night, will be private.

Cantor was the last of a trio of great comedy figures to pass from the Hollywood scene in recent weeks. Gracie Allen of the Burns and Allen team died Aug. 27, and Harpo Marx of the Marx Brothers succumbed two weeks ago.

Cantor died at his Beverly Hills home. Two of his daughters, Mrs. Natalie Metzger and Mrs. Edna McHugh, were at his bedside. Two other daughters, Marilyn Cantor and Mrs. Janet Gari, live in New York. A fifth daughter, Marjorie, who had been the comedian's secretary, died of cancer May 17, 1959.

Cantor was born Edward Iskowitz in New York City Jan. 31, 1892. He came out of the slums with a vitality that soon captured audiences wherever he performed. A small man, he possessed enormous energy.

Harris Poll Indicates Slight Goldwater Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—The latest poll by Louis Harris says Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater picked up small support since a similar survey made in mid-September.

The poll results reported Sunday night showed 58 per cent of the voters polled favored President Johnson and 34 per cent supported Goldwater.

Eight per cent of those polled still had not made a choice, the poll showed.

The results showed a 2 per cent boost in favor of Goldwater over the mid-September poll.

Noise Marks Final British Ballot Drives

Candidates Deplore Campaign Heckling On Eve Of Election

LONDON (AP) — Britain's rowdy national election campaign moved into its final phase today with subtle political arguments drowned in a rising tide of noise and disorder.

Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, 61, the Conservative party leader, and Harold Wilson, 48, the Laborite chieftain, shouted themselves hoarse in an efffort to be heard above the din.

Their lot and that of their colleagues was hard. In meeting after meeting, attendants have had to frog-march hecklers from halls and toss them out of doors.

Tempers shortened with the approach of the voting Thursday.

About 28 million British men and women will elect a new 630-seat House of Commons and give either the Conservative or the Labor party a mandate to govern this country for the next five years.

If the Conservatives win, Douglas-Home will remain prime minister. Wilson will replace him at No. 10 Downing St. if the Labor party wins.

Both men are leading their

Wellsville Youngster Hurt When Hit By Car

An 8-year-old Wellsville boy was hospitalized after he was struck by a car near his home Saturday afternoon about 4:15.

James Checkler, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Checkler, 518 Broadway, was in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with abrasions of the left side of the head and a possible back injury.

Police said he was struck by a car driven by Lon Junior Boggs of the Westfield Rd., while on Broadway between 6th and 7th Sts. The child apparently ran across the street and then darted back into the path of the car. No charges were filed, police said.

This Could Be Tweek To Turn Voter Cheek

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. William E. Miller may have set a new campaign trend Sunday while making a public appearance in Detroit on behalf of her husband, the Republican candidate for vice president.

She playfully tweeked the whiskers of Stanley Olejarczyk, 82. Both were participating in a Pulaski Day parade.

Raps 'Against' Policy

Johnson Pushes Far West Drive

RENO, Nev. (AP) — President Johnson said today Barry Goldwater sees the government as such a terrible thing that he seems to be "running against the office of president, instead of for it."

Johnson took the slap at his Republican rival as the President swung into what promised to be a 20-hour day of campaigning in five Western states —Nevada, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and Idaho.

Goldwater was not mentioned by name. But Johnson, in a speech in Reno, left no doubt about his target.

"One candidate," he said, "is roaming around the country saying what a terrible thing the government is. Sometimes I think he is running against the office of president, instead of for it."

"We here in the West," said Johnson, "know how the West was won. It wasn't won by a man on a horse who thought he could settle every argument with a quick draw and a shot from the hip.

"We here in the West aren't about to turn in our sterling silver American heritage for a plastic credit card that reads: 'Shoot now, pay later.' "

And, Johnson said, the West wasn't settled "in saloon fights or by galloping vigilantes" but rather by sober and responsible men and women.

The President spent the night in Nevada, talking to local politicians and resting in the penthouse of the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas.

Roulette wheels whirred and slot machines played their tinkling melody more than 20 stories below him. But he never saw these features of Las Vegas life since his route to and from his quarters was remote from the bustling casino.

The President flew to Nevada after a Sunday that saw him go to church — "The first day of the week belongs to God" — in Goldwater's hometown of Phoenix, Ariz. Later, he did some speechmaking, which wasn't exactly nonpolitical, in Long

Threats Alert President's Police Guard

A youth whose Goldwater-Miller placard grazed the President's hat Sunday in Phoenix was released by police after questioning.

Police found a revolver in a pocket of another youth. He said he was carrying it to protect the President. Phoenix police released him later on bail.

As the President rode through the Long Beach, Calif., area later in the day, Secret Service men were aware that local authorities had received reports of two telephone calls, one warn-

Unity Urged In Episcopal Policy Parley

Changes Indicated By Denomination's Convention Leaders

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Episcopal Church, which regards itself a "bridge" between Protestantism and Catholicism, went into policy - making sessions today after hearing a plea to act—and not just talk—in behalf of Christian unity.

The church's presiding bishop, the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, also urged Christians to translate their principles into deeds on contemporary issues of social justice.

But there were dissenting voices concerning both matters.

There also were signs of change as the 3.5-million-member denomination's triennial general convention began work in an era of mounting and unprecedented fraternity among different churches.

For the first time, three Roman Catholic priests are attending the two-week meeting as observers. So are several Eastern Orthodox churchmen. An "Ecumenical Day" has been scheduled later this week in which Episcopal representatives will meet at various seminaries for discussions with Catholic, Lutheran and other church theologians.

America Goes It Alone

By latest count, more than 200 U.S. soldiers have fallen in the stink and muck of Viet Nam's jungles and paddy fields. With few exceptions, they were young men with the best years of their lives ahead of them. Now more than 200 of them are dead.

The tragedy of the situation is that no one really seems to care. To the families of the dead, it is a real enough war—just as real as World War II and the Korean conflict were to thousands of other families.

BUT IT IS a situation to which the average American has become jaded. The philosophy seems to be: Get used to these fringe wars because there's going to be more of them. They're better than an all-out nuclear holocaust, aren't they?

Certainly a contained war fought with conventional weapons is preferable to a wholesale nuclear slaughter. But what has happened to the American temper that used to boil to a white-hot heat at even an insult to this country's honor? Have we become so smug in our personal comforts that we can shrug off the deaths of our countrymen without the slightest feeling of passion or remorse?

Military strategists tell us that South Viet Nam is the foundation of our defenses in Southeast Asia. If it falls, the rest could collapse like a house of cards, they say. Perhaps that is true. But why such a timid policy then?

BY THE SAME token, who made this a private war between the United States and communism? Our allies applaud us for checking the advance of the Communist tide, but on how many battlefields are their soldiers falling in the defense of freedom?

The Communist world seems content for the moment to let the situation drag on at its present pace, with Red China supplying the Viet Cong with the tools of war and Russia chipping in with moral support but unwilling to sully its hands in a dirty little war.

On the other side of the fence, America goes it alone.

And more than 200 Americans are dead.

Let's 'Lower The Score'

Columbiana County has recorded its 25th traffic fatality of the year, the same toll as during a comparable period in 1963.

"Lower The Score In 1964" may become merely an idle phrase unless some caution is used on the county's thoroughfares. The score has been rising too rapidly the last few weeks.

The 25 killed to date represent only part of the tragic picture. There also are those who have escaped death, but who have suffered injuries in one form or other, some so serious that they will be maimed for life.

With wet and slippery highways and streets in the offing, the danger of even more accidents — and probably more fatalities — will increase.

All the safety efforts taken in construction of highways and all the mechanical advancements perfected toward a safer automobile mean little if you, the individual driver, fail to do your part.

Now's the time to put on the brakes and "Lower The Score" during the remaining months of 1964.

In Time Of Need

Just when you begin to get the feeling that all's not right with the world, some encouraging thing takes place to rekindle your faith in mankind.

Take the manner in which the residents of Salineville have rallied to the aid of a 65-year-old widow whose home was destroyed by fire last week.

Furniture, clothing, food and money have been solicited. And because of the generosity of her neighbors and other friends, the future looks much brighter for Mrs. Stella Lewis.

The true spirit of a community and its people comes to the fore when found not wanting in time of need.

Interns In Government

There's an easier road to the White House than the one President Johnson and Sen. Goldwater are following. And at its terminus are more openings.

Four of the 15 young people who will be chosen to become White House Fellows next June will be assigned to the White House staff. One each will be assigned to the vice president's office and to the 10 members of the cabinet.

Establishment of the White House fellowships program was announced recently by President Johnson. It is supported by a Carnegie Foundation grant.

What the program means is that 15 young men and women will be drawn from the ranks of business, law, journalism, the universities and other professions to gain firsthand experience with high-level workings of the federal government. They will have an opportunity to increase their sense of participation in national affairs.

Candidates must have a diploma from a four-year accredited college. They must be American citizens between the ages of 23 and 25.

In addition to their daily work, the fellows will take part in seminars and other activities planned to advance the purposes of the program.

Appointments have been taken out of the realm of politics. A 12-member commission headed by David Rockefeller, a New York banker, will submit nominations for the 15 fellowships for appointment by the president.

It wouldn't be surprising if that pigeonhole labeled "Commission on White House Fellowships" at the White House is overflowing long before the Dec. 15 application deadline arrives.

Juvenile Penalty

By Mary Campbell

NEW YORK

How do you prevent a juvenile delinquent who has committed an adult crime from becoming an habitual offender?

In the continuing debate over juvenile delinquency, experts have come up with two diametrically opposed proposals. Some experts claim the only preventive is widespread newspaper publicity, including the name of the juvenile for all to read.

Others say the best method is to shield the young offender from the glare of publicity.

In Montana, District Court Judge Lester H. Loble claims to have cut crime, carrying out a law he fathered in 1961, which provides for open court hearings for juveniles accused of felonies. This includes newspaper coverage which names names.

JUDGE LOBLE says that juvenile felony cases are down 49 per cent compared with the three - year period before 1961.

He asserts, "The twin enemies of crime are fear of punishment and fear of publicity."

Most of the police chiefs and prosecuting attorneys interviewed around the country by The Associated Press agree with Judge Loble's view that juvenile offenders' names should be published. They claim such publication has a deterrent effect.

Probation and parole officers generally oppose publication of names. Juvenile Court judges are split nearly 50-50.

Those who oppose publication of young lawbreakers' names do not agree on a reason as do those favoring publication.

Some think names of juveniles should not be published because it would be too harsh a punishment. Others think publication should be withheld because it is exactly what the offenders want.

JUVENILE Court Judge Frank Breitenbach of Los Angeles says he knows of juvenile gangs who try to top each other for space in the press.

Donald E. McFarlane, referee in Hennepin County Minneapolis Juvenile Court, says,

"Many kids are looking for somebody to give them publicity on anything, even their troubles with the law. I feel that when we publish names we only give them a little chance to gloat over their so-called accomplishments. Many of those kids carry their clippings with pride."

In Boston, Juvenile Court Judge John J. Connelly said the whole purpose of juvenile courts is "that children are immature and prone to make mistakes and vulnerable to outside influences and from within themselves. Their chances in later life should be protected."

William Cribbens, youth services consultant with the Chicago police, agrees. "Too many people who are jammed up as kids turn into good solid citizens. I've seen too many young people who would have been irreparably hurt if their names had been given out."

Asst. Prof. Abraham Alcabes, Department of Social Work at New York University, says, "The youngster is better dealt with as a person who needs help. When he is defined as a delinquent by the press, he is more likely to act that way."

Bernard Pyle of the Georgia Pardon and Parole Board, says, "Where children are protected by not publishing names, often they are not afraid to commit another offense.

"If names are used, the families might supervise children more."

ANOTHER comment as to the efficacy of social pressures on parents and offender whose name is published comes from Judge Elmo Holt of the Fulton County Atlanta Juvenile Court:

"Under certain circumstances, I think publishing the names would have a good effect.

"It might, however, have a better effect in small towns, where everyone in town could read the names."

In Detroit, presumably of a size where social pressure would be minimal, Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel Olsen advocates adding monetary pressure. "In the case of savage, unprovoked attacks on citizens, extreme publicity should be given to the case, especially to parents of those young toughs." Olsen said he thinks, further, the laws should be amended to make parents liable for damages where assault by a juvenile is intentional.

A Look At Duty—And Opportunity

Sam Ragan is executive editor of The News and Observer and The Raleigh Times in Raleigh, N.C., and president of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association. He takes a look at the role of newspapers in our lives and the opportunities they offer young people today.

By SAM RAGAN

A newspaper's duty, said Wilbur Storey, is to print the news and raise hell.

It is a succinct statement by the late editor of the Chicago Times of a newspaper's role in a free society, and in different language it has been the guiding philosophy of many great American newspapers.

On a bronze plaque in the lobby of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, for instance, there are these words of the newspaper's founder, Joseph Pulitzer, who on his retirement charged the paper's editors to:

"Always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties. . .always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare. . . never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty."

And carried each day on the editorial masthead of The News and Observer are these words about the paper from the last will and testament of Josephus Daniels, the newspaper's editor and publisher from 1894 to 1948:

"I WOULD WISH it always to be 'the tocsin' and devote itself to the policies of equality and justice to the underprivileged. If the paper should at any time be the voice of self-interest or become the spokesman of privilege or selfishness it would be untrue to its history."

This obligation, this duty, of a newspaper to sound the alarm, the tocsin, and serve as the community alarm clock, is one of the reasons that so many of today's newspapermen see their job as Clifton Daniel of The New York Times puts it, as a "calling" that attracts talented and bright young men and women into newspaper work in the same way that politics, or the ministry or medicine attracts them.

But be it craft or calling, a profession or an art — and reporting is an art ranking among the highest of the arts — a newspaper career is not only satisfying and rewarding in the sense of service, but it is glamorous and exciting.

In the United States today there are 1,800 daily and some 9,000 weekly newspapers read by almost 90 per cent of the American people.

THE MORE than 60,000,000 newspapers that daily go into American homes carry with them the story of man's triumphs and tragedies, providing not only a mirror of what man does but what he feels and what he thinks.

This information collected and written by newspapermen is the basic necessity that makes democracy function.

For the first concept of democracy is that an informed people can be depended upon to make the decisions affecting them and their government. That is why the Constitution of the United States says in its First Amendment that "Congress shall make no law. . . abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press."

In this constitutional guarantee of a right there is, however, a commission of duty and of service.

It is this, beyond the excitement and the glamour, which attracts young men and women to serve, as Stanford Smith of the American Newspaper Publishers Association expresses it," an ideal that rises above themselves and above business."

"Newspapermen and women," he says, "do many things that make their lives interesting and challenging. They move with the world's leaders and with its followers. They travel to wars and to peace conferences. They study the world at work and at play. They report on rocket launchings and the discoveries of scientists. Their concern is the world and its people — rich and poor, young and old, foolish and wise. They range the whole broad scale of human life."

A NEWSPAPERMAN is writing history when it happens. For that task he needs curiosity, inquisitiveness and a faculty for accurate observation and recording of those observations.

Basil L. Walters, former executive editor of the Knight Newspapers, says a newspaperman "must be a student of the past, but must live constantly in the present, realizing he is recording the history of the most interesting time in which man has ever lived."

Further elaboration of a newspaperman's role is given by Frank R. Ahlgren, editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, when he says: "Politicians come and go, financial wizards rise and fall with the economic tides of their own capabilities. But a newspaper of integrity means more than all of them to a community. And the journalists — the men and women whose daily stint of news gathering, or writing, or editing gives that newspaper its flesh and bones and pulse beat — are the custodians of that special estate."

To those who see a newspaper job as a calling we can look at the challenging words of such journalism greats as Josephus Daniels and Joseph Pulitzer, and we can see it reflected in the daily dedication of thousands reporting what happens from the White House to the court house, from war councils in Saigon to school board meetings in Sanford or Sacramento.

They are fulfilling that responsibility of relaying with accuracy and clarity the information a people need and which they and their government must have to be sustained.

But in that calling, I feel that a newspaper also has a responsibility to be the spokesman for the disadvantaged of our society, to speak in terms of human decency and human dignity in the name of those who otherwise would not be heard.

For it seems to me that while the voices of the high and the mighty are almost always heard, the voices of the many are often muted. Thus, it is a newspaper's task to talk loudly for the lowly.

It is a challenge that calls for the best minds and talents available in America today. And it is to such minds and talents of young Americans now considering their life's work that these comments are directed.

WHAT THEN, such young Americans might ask, are the opportunities in journalism today?

As an editor and as president of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association, whose members come from some 1,700 AP-member papers, making it the largest daily newspaper organization in the country, I say without hestitation that they are excellent.

And the latest Occupational Outlook Handbook of the U.S. Department of Labor states that "Well-qualified beginners with writing talent have good employment opportunities in the middle and the late 1960's." It adds, "employment of reporters is expected to increase" and "the broad field of mass communication, which has grown rapidly in recent years, will continue to expand. . ."

Such expansion may be expected because of the rising level of education, the increasing expenditures for newspaper and other media advertising, and the growth in newspapers themselves.

In 1962 an estimated 30,000 reporters were employed in the United States, a majority of them on daily newspapers.

Almost an equal number were employed by press services, radio and television, newspaper syndicates and related fields of journalism. In addition, there were other thousands employed as editors of various functions on newspapers.

Since the demand has been growing, not only for replacement of those promoted from reporting to editing jobs, but to fill the new departments and specialized fields being created by newspapers to meet the needs of readers for more information and interpretation of that information.

There is scarcely a daily newspaper in America today that does not at this moment have an opening on its news staff for a reporter or editor.

There is a tremendous variety in newspaper work being offered today. In addition to good beginning salaries, the opportunities for advancement are almost unlimited. It is a career that calls for ideas and imagination and those who contribute them can expect to be rewarded.

It is a good way to make a living, but more important, I think, it is a good way to live. For there is in newspaper work a daily sense of excitement, of being present when history is made. It is also a career that gives one satisfaction in performing a service that is not only worthwhile but absolutely necessary.

Candidate Contrasts

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The 1964 presidential race will be remembered for more reasons than the monotonous repetition of limited ideas and the fact that the future direction of the country was at stake.

The similarities and contrasts between the candidates, President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater, are enough to fascinate historians and political scientists for years to come.

There's the picture of the two men feeding the public their endless diet of slogans: Johnson preaching "unity" and "morality" and Goldwater intoning about "freedom" and "morality."

While any serious debate about these abstractions is almost totally lacking, the crowds which turn out for both men cheer and applaud although it's unclear whether they're approving the men, their ideas or what they represent.

There have been no surprises in the campaign. The basic difference in the philosophy of the candidates on the idea of government they say is needed was long known and clearly established before the campaign began.

In this growing society, which both men are looking at, Johnson thinks government needs to be big to meet its responsibilities while Goldwater wants it smaller, with its responsibilities far more limited and some eliminated.

There's a difference even in the way they get their ideas out.

If there had been no news conferences, Johnson probably would have thought them up. He uses them indoors and outdoors, particularly outdoors in a new twist, leading newsmen and beagles in a fast walk while answering questions.

Goldwater, who in the past sometime talked too fast when he talked off the cuff, relies now mostly on written speeches and avoids news conferences. He hasn't had one since August.

Last week when he addressed editors here he refused to answer their questions, saying it wouldn't be fair since he didn't let their reporters ask him questions.

The two men disagree just as much on how to handle foreign policy as they do on the problems at home.

Goldwater has been campaigning since August. Actually, counting the primaries earlier in 1964, he's been campaigning all year. Johnson made a number of so-called non-political trips that served his political purposes.

Nevertheless, he didn't hit the road all-out until recently, a delay which may be largely due to his respect for the political sagacity of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

He remembers that in the 1940 campaign, Roosevelt didn't go on the road until about three weeks before the election. For whatever his reason, Johnson started a little sooner, but not much sooner.

Johnson, in the tradition of the handshaking American politician, likes to mingle with the crowds. It seems to enliven him. But this, according to repeated reports, is an idea Goldwater doesn't relish.

America Goes It Alone

While their fellow countrymen concern themselves with such frivolities as the World Series, the latest adventures of the Beatles and their favorite television shows, American servicemen are dying in battle.

By latest count, more than 200 U.S. soldiers have fallen in the stink and muck of Viet Nam's jungles and paddy fields. With few exceptions, they were young men with the best years of their lives ahead of them. Now more than 200 of them are dead.

The tragedy of the situation is that no one really seems to care. To the families of the dead, it is a real enough war—just as real as World War II and the Korean conflict were to thousands of other families.

BUT IT IS a situation to which the average American has become jaded. The philosophy seems to be: Get used to these fringe wars because there's going to be more of them. They're better than an all-out nuclear holocaust, aren't they?

Certainly a contained war fought with conventional weapons is preferable to a wholesale nuclear slaughter. But what has happened to the American temper that used to boil to a white-hot heat at even an insult to this country's honor? Have we become so smug in our personal comforts that we can shrug off the deaths of our countrymen without the slightest feeling of passion or remorse?

Military strategists tell us that South Viet Nam is the foundation of our defenses in Southeast Asia. If it falls, the rest could collapse like a house of cards, they say. Perhaps that is true. But why such a timid policy then?

BY THE SAME token, who made this a private war between the United States and communism? Our allies applaud us for checking the advance of the Communist tide, but on how many battlefields are their soldiers falling in the defense of freedom?

The Communist world seems content for the moment to let the situation drag on at its present pace, with Red China supplying the Viet Cong with the tools of war and Russia chipping in with moral support but unwilling to sully its hands in a dirty little war.

On the other side of the fence, America goes it alone.

And more than 200 Americans are dead.

Let's 'Lower The Score'

Columbiana County has recorded its 25th traffic fatality of the year, the same toll as during a comparable period in 1963.

"Lower The Score In 1964" may become merely an idle phrase unless some caution is used on the county's thoroughfares. The score has been rising too rapidly the last few weeks.

The 25 killed to date represent only part of the tragic picture. There also are those who have escaped death, but who have suffered injuries in one form or other, some so serious that they will be maimed for life.

With wet and slippery highways and streets in the offing, the danger of even more accidents — and probably more fatalities — will increase.

All the safety efforts taken in construction of highways and all the mechanical advancements perfected toward a safer automobile mean little if you, the individual driver, fail to do your part.

Now's the time to put on the brakes and "Lower The Score" during the remaining months of 1964.

In Time Of Need

Just when you begin to get the feeling that all's not right with the world, some encouraging thing takes place to rekindle your faith in mankind.

Take the manner in which the residents of Salineville have rallied to the aid of a 65-year-old widow whose home was destroyed by fire last week.

Furniture, clothing, food and money have been solicited. And because of the generosity of her neighbors and other friends, the future looks much brighter for Mrs. Stella Lewis.

The true spirit of a community and its people comes to the fore when found not wanting in time of need.

Interns In Government

There's an easier road to the White House than the one President Johnson and Sen. Goldwater are following. And at its terminus are more openings.

Four of the 15 young people who will be chosen to become White House Fellows next June will be assigned to the White House staff. One each will be assigned to the vice president's office and to the 10 members of the cabinet.

Establishment of the White House fellowships program was announced recently by President Johnson. It is supported by a Carnegie Foundation grant.

What the program means is that 15 young men and women will be drawn from the ranks of business, law, journalism, the universities and other professions to gain firsthand experience with high-level workings of the federal government. They will have an opportunity to increase their sense of participation in national affairs.

Candidates must have a diploma from a four-year accredited college. They must be American citizens between the ages of 23 and 25.

In addition to their daily work, the fellows will take part in seminars and other activities planned to advance the purposes of the program.

Appointments have been taken out of the realm of politics. A 12-member commission headed by David Rockefeller, a New York banker, will submit nominations for the 15 fellowships for appointment by the president.

It wouldn't be surprising if that pigeonhole labeled "Commission on White House Fellowships" at the White House is overflowing long before the Dec. 15 application deadline arrives.

Juvenile Penalty

By Mary Campbell

NEW YORK

How do you prevent a juvenile delinquent who has committed an adult crime from becoming an habitual offender?

In the continuing debate over juvenile delinquency, experts have come up with two diametrically opposed proposals. Some experts claim the only preventive is widespread newspaper publicity, including the name of the juvenile for all to read.

Others say the best method is to shield the young offender from the glare of publicity.

In Montana, District Court Judge Lester H. Loble claims to have cut crime, carrying out a law he fathered in 1961, which provides for open court hearings for juveniles accused of felonies. This includes newspaper coverage which names names.

JUDGE LOBLE says that juvenile felony cases are down 49 per cent compared with the three - year period before 1961.

He asserts, "The twin enemies of crime are fear of punishment and fear of publicity."

Most of the police chiefs and prosecuting attorneys interviewed around the country by The Associated Press agree with Judge Loble's view that juvenile offenders' names should be published. They claim such publication has a deterrent effect.

Probation and parole officers generally oppose publication of names. Juvenile Court judges are split nearly 50-50.

Those who oppose publication of young lawbreakers' names do not agree on a reason as do those favoring publication.

Some think names of juveniles should not be published because it would be too harsh a punishment. Others think publication should be withheld because it is exactly what the offenders want.

JUVENILE Court Judge Frank Breitenbach of Los Angeles says he knows of juvenile gangs who try to top each other for space in the press.

Donald E. McFarlane, referee in Hennepin County Minneapolis Juvenile Court, says,

"Many kids are looking for somebody to give them publicity on anything, even their troubles with the law. I feel that when we publish names we only give them a little chance to gloat over their so-called accomplishments. Many of those kids carry their clippings with pride."

In Boston, Juvenile Court Judge John J. Connelly said the whole purpose of juvenile courts is "that children are immature and prone to make mistakes and vulnerable to outside influences and from within themselves. Their chances in later life should be protected."

William Cribbens, youth services consultant with the Chicago police, agrees. "Too many people who are jammed up as kids turn into good solid citizens. I've seen too many young people who would have been irreparably hurt if their names had been given out."

Asst. Prof. Abraham Alcabes, Department of Social Work at New York University, says, "The youngster is better dealt with as a person who needs help. When he is defined as a delinquent by the press, he is more likely to act that way."

Bernard Pyle of the Georgia Pardon and Parole Board, says, "Where children are protected by not publishing names, often they are not afraid to commit another offense.

"If names are used, the families might supervise children more."

ANOTHER comment as to the efficacy of social pressures on parents and offender whose name is published comes from Judge Elmo Holt of the Fulton County Atlanta Juvenile Court:

"Under certain circumstances, I think publishing the names would have a good effect.

"It might, however, have a better effect in small towns, where everyone in town could read the names."

In Detroit, presumably of a size where social pressure would be minimal, Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel Olsen advocates adding monetary pressure. "In the case of savage, unprovoked attacks on citizens, extreme publicity should be given to the case, especially to parents of those young toughs." Olsen said he thinks, further, the laws should be amended to make parents liable for damages where assault by a juvenile is intentional.

A Look At Duty—And Opportunity

Sam Ragan is executive editor of The News and Observer and The Raleigh Times in Raleigh, N.C., and president of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association. He takes a look at the role of newspapers in our lives and the opportunities they offer young people today.

By SAM RAGAN

A newspaper's duty, said Wilbur Storey, is to print the news and raise hell.

It is a succinct statement by the late editor of the Chicago Times of a newspaper's role in a free society, and in different language it has been the guiding philosophy of many great American newspapers.

On a bronze plaque in the lobby of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, for instance, there are these words of the newspaper's founder, Joseph Pulitzer, who on his retirement charged the paper's editors to:

"Always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties. . .always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare. . . never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty."

And carried each day on the editorial masthead of The News and Observer are these words about the paper from the last will and testament of Josephus Daniels, the newspaper's editor and publisher from 1894 to 1948:

"I WOULD WISH it always to be 'the tocsin' and devote itself to the policies of equality and justice to the underprivileged. If the paper should at any time be the voice of self-interest or become the spokesman of privilege or selfishness it would be untrue to its history."

This obligation, this duty, of a newspaper to sound the alarm, the tocsin, and serve as the community alarm clock, is one of the reasons that so many of today's newspapermen see their job as Clifton Daniel of The New York Times puts it, as a "calling" that attracts talented and bright young men and women into newspaper work in the same way that politics, or the ministry or medicine attracts them.

But be it craft or calling, a profession or an art — and reporting is an art ranking among the highest of the arts — a newspaper career is not only satisfying and rewarding in the sense of service, but it is glamorous and exciting.

In the United States today there are 1,800 daily and some 9,000 weekly newspapers read by almost 90 per cent of the American people.

THE MORE than 60,000,000 newspapers that daily go into American homes carry with them the story of man's triumphs and tragedies, providing not only a mirror of what man does but what he feels and what he thinks.

This information collected and written by newspapermen is the basic necessity that makes democracy function.

For the first concept of democracy is that an informed people can be depended upon to make the decisions affecting them and their government. That is why the Constitution of the United States says in its First Amendment that "Congress shall make no law. . . abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press."

In this constitutional guarantee of a right there is, however, a commission of duty and of service.

It is this, beyond the excitement and the glamour, which attracts young men and women to serve, as Stanford Smith of the American Newspaper Publishers Association expresses it," an ideal that rises above themselves and above business."

"Newspapermen and women," he says, "do many things that make their lives interesting and challenging. They move with the world's leaders and with its followers. They travel to wars and to peace conferences. They study the world at work and at play. They report on rocket launchings and the discoveries of scientists. Their concern is the world and its people — rich and poor, young and old, foolish and wise. They range the whole broad scale of human life."

A NEWSPAPERMAN is writing history when it happens. For that task he needs curiosity, inquisitiveness and a faculty for accurate observation and recording of those observations.

Basil L. Walters, former executive editor of the Knight Newspapers, says a newspaperman "must be a student of the past, but must live constantly in the present, realizing he is recording the history of the most interesting time in which man has ever lived."

Further elaboration of a newspaperman's role is given by Frank R. Ahlgren, editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, when he says: "Politicians come and go, financial wizards rise and fall with the economic tides of their own capabilities. But a newspaper of integrity means more than all of them to a community. And the journalists — the men and women whose daily stint of news gathering, or writing, or editing gives that newspaper its flesh and bones and pulse beat — are the custodians of that special estate."

To those who see a newspaper job as a calling we can look at the challenging words of such journalism greats as Josephus Daniels and Joseph Pulitzer, and we can see it reflected in the daily dedication of thousands reporting what happens from the White House to the court house, from war councils in Saigon to school board meetings in Sanford or Sacramento.

They are fulfilling that responsibility of relaying with accuracy and clarity the information a people need and which they and their government must have to be sustained.

But in that calling, I feel that a newspaper also has a responsibility to be the spokesman for the disadvantaged of our society, to speak in terms of human decency and human dignity in the name of those who otherwise would not be heard.

For it seems to me that while the voices of the high and the mighty are almost always heard, the voices of the many are often muted. Thus, it is a newspaper's task to talk loudly for the lowly.

It is a challenge that calls for the best minds and talents available in America today. And it is to such minds and talents of young Americans now considering their life's work that these comments are directed.

WHAT THEN, such young Americans might ask, are the opportunities in journalism today?

As an editor and as president of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association, whose members come from some 1,700 AP-member papers, making it the largest daily newspaper organization in the country, I say without hestitation that they are excellent.

And the latest Occupational Outlook Handbook of the U.S. Department of Labor states that "Well-qualified beginners with writing talent have good employment opportunities in the middle and the late 1960's." It adds, "employment of reporters is expected to increase" and "the broad field of mass communication, which has grown rapidly in recent years, will continue to expand. . ."

Such expansion may be expected because of the rising level of education, the increasing expenditures for newspaper and other media advertising, and the growth in newspapers themselves.

In 1962 an estimated 30,000 reporters were employed in the United States, a majority of them on daily newspapers.

Almost an equal number were employed by press services, radio and television, newspaper syndicates and related fields of journalism. In addition, there were other thousands employed as editors of various functions on newspapers.

Since the demand has been growing, not only for replacement of those promoted from reporting to editing jobs, but to fill the new departments and specialized fields being created by newspapers to meet the needs of readers for more information and interpretation of that information.

There is scarcely a daily newspaper in America today that does not at this moment have an opening on its news staff for a reporter or editor.

There is a tremendous variety in newspaper work being offered today. In addition to good beginning salaries, the opportunities for advancement are almost unlimited. It is a career that calls for ideas and imagination and those who contribute them can expect to be rewarded.

It is a good way to make a living, but more important, I think, it is a good way to live. For there is in newspaper work a daily sense of excitement, of being present when history is made. It is also a career that gives one satisfaction in performing a service that is not only worthwhile but absolutely necessary.

ing directly and the other indirectly that the President's life was in danger.

In Phoenix, detective Andrew Watzek said that on Johnson's airport arrival he noticed a bulge in the right trouser pocket of Clarence R. Fetzer, 18, and found a 22-caliber revolver inside.

Fetzer, booked for carrying a concealed weapon, was later released on $300 bail.

Thirty minutes later, Thomas Lee Wilkins, 17, of Phoenix, was arrested when two policemen saw him swing a Goldwater-Miller placard that brushed the President's hat as Johnson walked along a fence shaking hands.

The President fended the sign off with his hands and said the incident was an accident.

"I wasn't hit," he said. "They just push. They always do."

Wilkins was released after questioning by Secret Service agents.

In Los Angeles, the sheriff's office issued an all-points alert Sunday after it received an anonymous telephone call that a man who disagreed with President Johnson's views was missing from his home, along with his rifle.

The man was found in his home later. He said he hadn't gone near the President. He gave no explanation for the rifle in his car, deputies said. The man was not arrested.

Long Beach police said Friday a telephone company operator told them she received a call from an anonymous man who said:

"President Johnson will not live through his trip through Long Beach."

Police checked the area in nearby Los Alamitos from which the operator said the call had been received but found nothing.

parties in a national campaign for the first time. Douglas-Home is trying to give the Conservatives their fourth straight triumph. Wilson hopes to end the Laborites' 13 years in the wilderness.

The campaign began sedately enough following the end of the old Parliament Sept. 25. Wilson argued: "It's time for a change to get Britain moving." Douglas-Home countered: "Protect your prosperity by keeping the Conservatives in power."

Now the two leaders, living on their nerves, deplore the degeneration of this campaign into what some experts regard as Britain's most disorderly political contest of this century.

"It would be a national tragedy if vital issues are muffled by noise," Wilson said.

Douglas-Home said ordinary heckling — the give-and-take between a speaker and some member of the audience — is traditional and has a place in British politics. But rowdy behavior is something else again, he said. "It must stop."

Beach and San Francisco, Calif.

Big crowds were the rule along the way, especially in the Long Beach area, where the curbside throng probably was as large as any Johnson has seen during the campaign.

But if the President saw more people, he also saw more Goldwater signs. There were more in Long Beach alone than in all the other cities Johnson has visited on his vote-seeking travels.

During Johnson's formal speech a few miles from Long Beach Goldwater partisans tried to blot out his words with "We want Barry" chants. But they were no match for the public address system at Johnson's disposal.

Fetzer, booked for carrying a concealed weapon, was later released on $300 bail.

Thirty minutes later, Thomas Lee Wilkins, 17, of Phoenix, was arrested when two policemen saw him swing a Goldwater-Miller placard that brushed the President's hat as Johnson walked along a fence shaking hands.

The President fended the sign off with his hands and said the incident was an accident.

"I wasn't hit," he said. "They just push. They always do."

Wilkins was released after questioning by Secret Service agents.

In Los Angeles, the sheriff's office issued an all-points alert Sunday after it received an anonymous telephone call that a man who disagreed with President Johnson's views was missing from his home, along with his rifle.

The man was found in his home later. He said he hadn't gone near the President. He gave no explanation for the rifle in his car, deputies said. The man was not arrested.

Long Beach police said Friday a telephone company operator told them she received a call from an anonymous man who said:

"President Johnson will not live through his trip through Long Beach."

Police checked the area in nearby Los Alamitos from which the operator said the call had been received but found nothing.

parties in a national campaign for the first time. Douglas-Home is trying to give the Conservatives their fourth straight triumph. Wilson hopes to end the Laborites' 13 years in the wilderness.

The campaign began sedately enough following the end of the old Parliament Sept. 25. Wilson argued: "It's time for a change to get Britain moving." Douglas-Home countered: "Protect your prosperity by keeping the Conservatives in power."

Now the two leaders, living on their nerves, deplore the degeneration of this campaign into what some experts regard as Britain's most disorderly political contest of this century.

"It would be a national tragedy if vital issues are muffled by noise," Wilson said.

Douglas-Home said ordinary heckling — the give-and-take between a speaker and some member of the audience — is traditional and has a place in British politics. But rowdy behavior is something else again, he said. "It must stop."

Johnson

Beach and San Francisco, Calif.

Big crowds were the rule along the way, especially in the Long Beach area, where the curbside throng probably was as large as any Johnson has seen during the campaign.

But if the President saw more people, he also saw more Goldwater signs. There were more in Long Beach alone than in all the other cities Johnson has visited on his vote-seeking travels.

During Johnson's formal speech a few miles from Long Beach Goldwater partisans tried to blot out his words with "We want Barry" chants. But they were no match for the public address system at Johnson's disposal.

Girl Hurt Severely

4 Suffer Injury In 3-Way Mishap

A city girl suffered severe head and facial injuries and three other persons were hurt in a three-way traffic accident at the intersection of Anderson Blvd. and Park Way Sunday at 1:30 a. m.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the crash involved cars driven by John G. Fitzley, 21, of Anderson Blvd. and Michael Robert Snowden, 17, of 1615 Holliday St., and a parked car owned by Kenneth R. Eaton, 48, of 910 Montgomery Ave.

Miss Erin McCormack, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McCormack, 329 W. 6th St., a passenger in the Snowden car, was in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries received in the crash.

THE PATROL said Fitzley failed to halt for a red flasher signal on Anderson Blvd. at the intersection. His car slid into the intersection and collided with the oncoming Snowden car. Fitzley's car then spun around and struck the third car in the parking lot of the Koerber Brothers store.

Miss McCormack had severe lacerations of the nose, right ear and head, a possible fractured skull and lacerations of the face. She underwent surgery yesterday.

—:—

FRITZLEY was treated for abrasions of the left leg. He was cited for failure to obey a red flasher signal.

Ralph Smith, 17, son of Fred C. Smith of Glenmoor, a passenger in the Snowden car, was treated for lacerations of the scalp. Snowden was cut on the lip, but not treated, and another passenger, Linda Woods, 16, also of Glenmoor, escaped injury.

Five other area accidents were investigated by the patrol over the weekend.

CARS DRIVEN by Mable Alice Kreid, 61, of Glenmoor, Donald J. Dowd, 17, of Lisbon R. D. 3 and Albert James Beggott, 27, of Hubbard and a Dalmatian dog figured in an accident Sunday at 6:10 p .m. on Route 164 almost two and a half miles north of Lisbon.

Officers said the cars all were southbound. Dowd started to pass the woman's car when the dog ran onto the highway into the path of her car.

The woman swerved left to avoid hitting the animal and then stopped. Dowd went left of center off the highway and the woman's car was rammed in the rear by the third vehicle driven by Beggot. The Dowd car then came back onto the highway and hit the woman's car.

THE DOG was killed. The patrol did not show which vehicle struck it.

Three cars figured in another crash Sunday at 1:30 p. m. on the Wellsville - East Liverpool "super-road" just over a mile north of Wellsville.

Richard Allen McDevitt, 31, of 612 Garner Ave. was southbound and started to pass another car driven by Andeline M. Flynn, 43, of Ellwood City, Pa.

HE THEN noticed a third car already in the passing lane and attempted to return to the right side of the highway. In the process, McDevitt hit the Flynn car. He was cited for reckless operation. The third car was driven by Pasquale J. Creaturo, 23, of 1227 Anderson Ave., Wellsville.

A car driven by Ormand Shasteen, 50, of LaCroft was hit in the rear by another driven by Walter H. Guder, 33, of Town-of-Woodbury, N. Y., Sunday at 11:15 p. m. at the intersection of Route 170 and New Route 30 near Calcutta. Shasteen was westbound and had halted on Route 30 at the intersection. Guder was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

A THREE-WAY crash Saturday at 12:01 p. m. on Route 154 a mile and a half west of the Pennsylvania line involved cars driven by Helen Shellenberger, 38, of Beaver Falls, Richard Edward Vaughn, 34, of Negley R. D. 1 and Cecil Faulk, 65, of Wheeling.

Faulk failed to observe a traffic sign and pulled onto Route 154 into the path of the Vaughn car, the patrol said.

Vaughn then went left of center and struck the car driven by the Pennsylvania woman.

Faulk was cited for failure to yield the right - of - way.

Two were hurt in a crash Saturday night at 8:10 on Route 30 near Hogue's Restaurant.

OFFICERS said a car operated by Ronald C. Millhorn, 19, of Lisbon R. D. 2 hit the rear of a halted car driven by Vincent Stantangelo, 34, of Youngstown. Stantangelo had halted behind a car waiting for traffic before making a left turn onto Route 170.

Millhorn was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

The patrol reported there were a total of 10 accidents Saturday and Sunday.

"We're making whoopee," he sang, with a roll of his immense banjo-eyes that were expressive without being offensive.

Two generations became acquainted with the high-pitched voice, the crisp gag line.

With his death, Cantor's great efforts for human causes were remembered. He raised staggering amounts for war bonds during the first and second World Wars, the Heart Fund, Bonds for Israel and other causes.

Cantor's career spanned the years from amateur night in the Bowery to burlesque to vaudeville to the Ziegfeld Follies to movies, radio and television.

In 1953, when Cantor was establishing himself in the new medium of television, he suffered a heart attack. That brought an end to his career as an active performer.

In 1962, his wife, Ida, died of a heart ailment.

Brown Gives Warning On GI's Holiday Mail

"The deadline's near for mail to those who are dear," Postmaster Samuel W. Brown warned today.

The period from Oct. 21 to Nov. 10 has been designated for sending Christmas cards and parcels to military personnel and their families at overseas posts to assure arrival before the holiday, the postmaster said.

Gifts should be packaged well and securely wrapped with a slip showing the contents and the sender's name and address enclosed in the parcels, he pointed out.

Girl Hurt Severely

4 Suffer Injury In 3-Way Mishap

A city girl suffered severe head and facial injuries and three other persons were hurt in a three-way traffic accident at the intersection of Anderson Blvd. and Park Way Sunday at 1:30 a. m.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the crash involved cars driven by John G. Fitzley, 21, of Anderson Blvd. and Michael Robert Snowden, 17, of 1615 Holliday St., and a parked car owned by Kenneth R. Eaton, 48, of 910 Montgomery Ave.

Miss Erin McCormack, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McCormack, 329 W. 6th St., a passenger in the Snowden car, was in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries received in the crash.

THE PATROL said Fitzley failed to halt for a red flasher signal on Anderson Blvd. at the intersection. His car slid into the intersection and collided with the oncoming Snowden car. Fitzley's car then spun around and struck the third car in the parking lot of the Koerber Brothers store.

Miss McCormack had severe lacerations of the nose, right ear and head, a possible fractured skull and lacerations of the face. She underwent surgery yesterday.

—:—

Ralph Smith, 17, son of Fred C. Smith of Glenmoor, a passenger in the Snowden car, was treated for lacerations of the scalp. Snowden was cut on the lip, but not treated, and another passenger, Linda Woods, 16, also of Glenmoor, escaped injury.

Five other area accidents were investigated by the patrol over the weekend.

CARS DRIVEN by Mable Alice Kreid, 61, of Glenmoor, Donald J. Dowd, 17, of Lisbon R. D. 3 and Albert James Beggott, 27, of Hubbard and a Dalmatian dog figured in an accident Sunday at 6:10 p .m. on Route 164 almost two and a half miles north of Lisbon.

Officers said the cars all were southbound. Dowd started to pass the woman's car when the dog ran onto the highway into the path of her car.

The woman swerved left to avoid hitting the animal and then stopped. Dowd went left of center off the highway and the woman's car was rammed in the rear by the third vehicle driven by Beggot. The Dowd car then came back onto the highway and hit the woman's car.

THE DOG was killed. The patrol did not show which vehicle struck it.

Three cars figured in another crash Sunday at 1:30 p. m. on the Wellsville - East Liverpool "super-road" just over a mile north of Wellsville.

Richard Allen McDevitt, 31, of 612 Garner Ave. was southbound and started to pass another car driven by Andeline M. Flynn, 43, of Ellwood City, Pa.

HE THEN noticed a third car already in the passing lane and attempted to return to the right side of the highway. In the process, McDevitt hit the Flynn car. He was cited for reckless operation. The third car was driven by Pasquale J. Creaturo, 23, of 1227 Anderson Ave., Wellsville.

A car driven by Ormand Shasteen, 50, of LaCroft was hit in the rear by another driven by Walter H. Guder, 33, of Town-of-Woodbury, N. Y., Sunday at 11:15 p. m. at the intersection of Route 170 and New Route 30 near Calcutta. Shasteen was westbound and had halted on Route 30 at the intersection. Guder was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

A THREE-WAY crash Saturday at 12:01 p. m. on Route 154 a mile and a half west of the Pennsylvania line involved cars driven by Helen Shellenberger, 38, of Beaver Falls, Richard Edward Vaughn, 34, of Negley R. D. 1 and Cecil Faulk, 65, of Wheeling.

Faulk failed to observe a traffic sign and pulled onto Route 154 into the path of the Vaughn car, the patrol said.

Vaughn then went left of center and struck the car driven by the Pennsylvania woman.

Faulk was cited for failure to yield the right - of - way.

Two were hurt in a crash Saturday night at 8:10 on Route 30 near Hogue's Restaurant.

OFFICERS said a car operated by Ronald C. Millhorn, 19, of Lisbon R. D. 2 hit the rear of a halted car driven by Vincent Stantangelo, 34, of Youngstown. Stantangelo had halted behind a car waiting for traffic before making a left turn onto Route 170.

Millhorn was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Stantangelo suffered contusions of the chest. Lawrence Sisman, 35, of Youngstown, a passenger in Stantangelo's car, suffered a whiplash of the neck.

The patrol reported there were a total of 10 accidents Saturday and Sunday.

Cantor

"We're making whoopee," he sang, with a roll of his immense banjo-eyes that were expressive without being offensive.

Two generations became acquainted with the high-pitched voice, the crisp gag line.

With his death, Cantor's great efforts for human causes were remembered. He raised staggering amounts for war bonds during the first and second World Wars, the Heart Fund, Bonds for Israel and other causes.

Cantor's career spanned the years from amateur night in the Bowery to burlesque to vaudeville to the Ziegfeld Follies to movies, radio and television.

In 1953, when Cantor was establishing himself in the new medium of television, he suffered a heart attack. That brought an end to his career as an active performer.

In 1962, his wife, Ida, died of a heart ailment.

Brown Gives Warning On GI's Holiday Mail

"The deadline's near for mail to those who are dear," Postmaster Samuel W. Brown warned today.

The period from Oct. 21 to Nov. 10 has been designated for sending Christmas cards and parcels to military personnel and their families at overseas posts to assure arrival before the holiday, the postmaster said.

Gifts should be packaged well and securely wrapped with a slip showing the contents and the sender's name and address enclosed in the parcels, he pointed out.

Fire Chief Robert Lewis said Williamson correctedly guessed the names of all the men who wore red neckties during the week and served as "fire marshals."

He turned in the list Saturday at 2:50 p. m. The marshals were Frank Wilson, Vaughn McMorrow, Jim Laughlin, Bill Williams, Danny Mason and Mayor William Daugherty.

Each day a different man was designated as "marshal of the day." The first person to guess the one who was serving that day also won a prize.

The daily winners were: Monday, Tom Hunter, 1716 Maple Ave.; Tuesday, Kay Thorn of Wellsville R. D. 1; Wednesday, Laura Roberts, 559 Main St.; Thursday, Williamson; Friday, Brad Call, 1148 Riverside Ave., and Saturday, Mrs. Floreine Broderick, 609 Broadway.

The prizes were donated by Gitschier Service Station, Mason's Foodliner, Acme Craft Ware, Baum's Florist, Lawson 5 & 10 Cent Store, Wellsville China Co. and Sterling China Co.

Anyone who asked any of the marshals if they were serving was given a pencil with a fire prevention slogan.

There were no fire runs during the week.

The prevention program was "very successful," according to Lewis, who said this was largely due to the efforts of Assistant Chief Robert Lloyd, Fireman Frank Fusco and members of the volunteer department.

Hancock Bus Struck; Pupils Escape Injury

A school bus transporting Hancock County pupils to classes in New Cumberland was involved in a collision in Pughtown in heavy fog this morning at 9, but none of the youngsters was hurt.

Hancock County sheriff's deputies said the accidnet happened on State Route 2 near the State Road Commission garage in Pughtown. It involved the school bus and two autos.

Deputies said the school bus, driven by Allen Fields Jr., 42, of New Cumberland, pulled from Cherry Lake Rd. onto State Route 2, heading south.

As the bus turned, it was hit in the side by the southbound Thunderbird of Thomas E. Davis, 21, of Box 106, Chester. Davis is pulled to the side of the highway after the collision.

While the school bus still was on the road, it was struck in the rear by the southbound sedan of Richard Moore, 41, of Pittsburgh, deputies said.

Deputies were unable to determine the exact number of passengers aboard the school bus, but pointed out it probably was filled to capacity because the vehicle was nearing the end of its morning trip. No charges were filed.

Area Marine Dies In Crash

ALIQUIPPA — Marine Lance Cpl. J. B. Searight, 24, of Aliquippa, was killed Saturday night when a military truck overturned in Hawaii.

Weirton Man Injured In Cumberland Crash

NEW CUMBERLAND — A young Weirton driver was hurt when his car plunged over an embankment and crashed into a garage at the Phillips Lumber Co. this morning, Police Chief William Webster reported.

Caiden A. Barron, 23, is in 'satisfactory'' condition at Weirton General Hospital with head lacerations.

Chief Webster said Barron was headed north on State Route 2 at the south limits when he lost control. The car struck guard rails, knocked over several traffic signs, plunged over a 30-foot embankment, hit a garage, and came to rest against a parked car, the officer said. He estimated property damage at $2,000.

Barron was cited on a charge of reckless operation and is due a hearing in Municipal Court after his release from the hospital, Chief Webster said.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Here is a time and money-saving hint for mothers whose babies are still in diapers, and who do not have a clothes dryer. I never hang my babies' plastic pants outdoors where they will harden and crack. Neither do I wait hours for them to dry in the house.

After I remove the pants from the washing machine, I wrap them in a bath towel so it will absorb as much excess moisture and water as possible.

I then place the towel-wrapped pants in the hood of my hair dryer and set it at medium heat (never use hot heat). Within 20 minutes the rubber pants will not only be dry, but as soft as new!

I also have found my hair dryer hood useful in emergencies for drying such things as damp undershirts, baby's bed socks, bibs and pajamas!

MAMA HODGE

Ladies, I borrowed a pair of little plastic pants and tried this.

The pants dry beautifully in about 20 minutes. They come out nice and soft and warm so that you can put them back on that little baby.

Another thing I found is that if you turn the cap upside down and put it over the pair of pants, which have been placed on a bath towel, they will dry even faster and better. The towel absorbs the excess moisture.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: Rough spots on gun barrels or other metal parts always pose a problem as to their removal without injury to the blue finish. This is neatly solved by use of an ordinary typewriter or ink eraser!

WALT DAY

DEAR HELOISE: When you bite into an apple, bite into the top half first, next to the stem. The apple will break out easily because this is the way it grows from the blossom.

Eat the top half first, then the bottom, and there will be very little core remaining.

AL FONDA

DEAR HELOISE: As a decoration I put small, plastic, artificial flowers on each shower curtain ring.

Though it's more expensive, I buy heavy duty aluminum foil, wash it with a soapy cloth after each use, scald it well, and use it over and over again.

Plastic bags from the cleaners can be deadly, but they can also be a boon to homemaking. I wrap things in these bags for storage and seal with tape. They are ideal for storing blankets and out-of-season clothes. The transparency of the plastic makes things easy to find in a dark attic or top of the closet and dust does not soil the garments. These bags will keep vegetables fresh. I even wrap up my tossed salad ahead of time, bowl and all!

MRS. W. D. BROWN

I use the back of my children's school papers (brought home by my 5- and 7-year-old) as stationery to write to friends and relatives far away.

This solves the problem of what to do with those precious papers which absolutely must not be thrown in the garbage.

Grandmothers especially love this. It gives them a chance to keep up with the little ones' progress.

OLD FRIEND

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

The world's population increases at the rate of about 90,000 per day, or almost 33 million per year.

Drifting Auto Rams Garage On W. 8th St.

An auto drifted from a parking place and smashed in the side of a garage on W. 8th St. near Dresden Ave. Saturday at 6:38 p. m., police reported.

The 1952 sedan owned by Jean Petties, 1339½ Main St., Wellsville, struck the east side of a garage owned by George Shawke, 237 W. 8th St., officers said.

The garage is located about 150 feet west of Dresden Ave., officers reported. The owner told police he parked the car and he did not know how it drifted away.

The mishap scraped the right fender of the car and damaged the front headlight. Patrolmen L. E. Richard and Paul Blevins investigated.

A Lisbon area woman was hurt in a two-way crash Sunday at 1:58 p. m. on Broadway 35 feet south of E. 3rd St., police reported.

She is Selma Dorsey, 29, of Lisbon R. D. 2, whose 1964 sedan was struck by a 1950 sedan operated by Lester A. Teter, 21, of New Ringgold, Pa., officers said.

Teter told police he was driving south on Broadway when the woman pulled from a parking spot. He said he applied his brakes, but his car slid and hit the Dorsey auto. The woman said she looked before pulling out of the parking spot and saw no oncoming traffic. She was treated at City Hospital for injuries of the neck and right shoulder.

A final report on a three-way mishap Saturday at 9:30 a. m. on Walnut St. at E. 5th St. showed there was only a small dent in the trunk of a police cruiser, one of the vehicles involved.

The mishap involved the cruiser operated by Patrolman Jerry F. Adkins, 32; a 1964 sedan driven by Earl W. Speerhas, 52, of 936 Phoenix Ave., Chester, and a 1962 station wagon operated by James Fleak, 69, of 105 Thompson Ave.

The cruiser was halted in a traffic lane and the Speerhas auto was stopped about 10 feet behind. Fleak's car hit the rear of the Speerhas auto and drove it forward into the rear of the cruiser.

Speerhas and his wife, Ethel, 46, who complained of neck injuries, were treated at the hospital.

What is considered the largest single dish in the world is roasted camel, which is a dish served occasionally at Bedouin feasts. In preparing this huge dish, cooked eggs are stuffed into fish, the fish stuffed into cooked chickens, the chickens stuffed into a roasted sheep carcass, and the sheep then stuffed into a whole camel.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Here is a time and money-saving hint for mothers whose babies are still in diapers, and who do not have a clothes dryer. I never hang my babies' plastic pants outdoors where they will harden and crack. Neither do I wait hours for them to dry in the house.

After I remove the pants from the washing machine, I wrap them in a bath towel so it will absorb as much excess moisture and water as possible.

I then place the towel-wrapped pants in the hood of my hair dryer and set it at medium heat (never use hot heat). Within 20 minutes the rubber pants will not only be dry, but as soft as new!

I also have found my hair dryer hood useful in emergencies for drying such things as damp undershirts, baby's bed socks, bibs and pajamas!

Ladies, I borrowed a pair of little plastic pants and tried this.

The pants dry beautifully in about 20 minutes. They come out nice and soft and warm so that you can put them back on that little baby.

Another thing I found is that if you turn the cap upside down and put it over the pair of pants, which have been placed on a bath towel, they will dry even faster and better. The towel absorbs the excess moisture.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: Rough spots on gun barrels or other metal parts always pose a problem as to their removal without injury to the blue finish. This is neatly solved by use of an ordinary typewriter or ink eraser!

WALT DAY

DEAR HELOISE: When you bite into an apple, bite into the top half first, next to the stem. The apple will break out easily because this is the way it grows from the blossom.

Eat the top half first, then the bottom, and there will be very little core remaining.

AL FONDA

DEAR HELOISE: As a decoration I put small, plastic, artificial flowers on each shower curtain ring.

Though it's more expensive, I buy heavy duty aluminum foil, wash it with a soapy cloth after each use, scald it well, and use it over and over again.

Plastic bags from the cleaners can be deadly, but they can also be a boon to homemaking. I wrap things in these bags for storage and seal with tape. They are ideal for storing blankets and out-of-season clothes. The transparency of the plastic makes things easy to find in a dark attic or top of the closet and dust does not soil the garments. These bags will keep vegetables fresh. I even wrap up my tossed salad ahead of time, bowl and all!

MRS. W. D. BROWN

I use the back of my children's school papers (brought home by my 5- and 7-year-old) as stationery to write to friends and relatives far away.

This solves the problem of what to do with those precious papers which absolutely must not be thrown in the garbage.

Drifting Auto Rams Garage On W. 8th St.

An auto drifted from a parking place and smashed in the side of a garage on W. 8th St. near Dresden Ave. Saturday at 6:38 p. m., police reported.

The 1952 sedan owned by Jean Petties, 1339½ Main St., Wellsville, struck the east side of a garage owned by George Shawke, 237 W. 8th St., officers said.

The garage is located about 150 feet west of Dresden Ave., officers reported. The owner told police he parked the car and he did not know how it drifted away.

The mishap scraped the right fender of the car and damaged the front headlight. Patrolmen L. E. Richard and Paul Blevins investigated.

A Lisbon area woman was hurt in a two-way crash Sunday at 1:58 p. m. on Broadway 35 feet south of E. 3rd St., police reported.

She is Selma Dorsey, 29, of Lisbon R. D. 2, whose 1964 sedan was struck by a 1950 sedan operated by Lester A. Teter, 21, of New Ringgold, Pa., officers said.

Teter told police he was driving south on Broadway when the woman pulled from a parking spot. He said he applied his brakes, but his car slid and hit the Dorsey auto. The woman said she looked before pulling out of the parking spot and saw no oncoming traffic. She was treated at City Hospital for injuries of the neck and right shoulder.

A final report on a three-way mishap Saturday at 9:30 a. m. on Walnut St. at E. 5th St. showed there was only a small dent in the trunk of a police cruiser, one of the vehicles involved.

The mishap involved the cruiser operated by Patrolman Jerry F. Adkins, 32; a 1964 sedan driven by Earl W. Speerhas, 52, of 936 Phoenix Ave., Chester, and a 1962 station wagon operated by James Fleak, 69, of 105 Thompson Ave.

The cruiser was halted in a traffic lane and the Speerhas auto was stopped about 10 feet behind. Fleak's car hit the rear of the Speerhas auto and drove it forward into the rear of the cruiser.

Speerhas and his wife, Ethel, 46, who complained of neck injuries, were treated at the hospital.

In preparing this huge dish, cooked eggs are stuffed into fish, the fish stuffed into cooked chickens, the chickens stuffed into a roasted sheep carcass, and the sheep then stuffed into a whole camel.

Ken Boyer Connects For Grand Slam

Craig And Taylor Were Heroes Too

By TOM PENDERGAST
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Reporters forced four men into corners Sunday: Two relief pitchers with so-so records, a big third baseman and a quiet second baseman.

"Poor Ken Boyer," said the second baseman, Bobby Richardson of the New York Yankees, "He hit the ball pretty good, and it seems everyone's here.

Richardson was taking the blame for the fouled-up double-play attempt that led to the St. Louis Cardinals' 4-3 World Series victory on Boyer's grand-slam home run.

In the Cardinal dressing room, Boyer hugged relievers Roger Craig and Ron Taylor, saying: "These are the guys who won the game."

Craig and Taylor, known more for giving up homers than for preventing them, teamed brilliantly from the first inning to chop off the vaunted Yankee offense that had scored three runs in the first.

"That has to be the finest relief work we've had," said Cardinal manager Johnny Keane. "It couldn't be improved upon. Craig and Taylor were splendid."

"My curve was sweeping and my control was good," Craig said. "It has to be one of my best-pitched games — Certainly the most thrilling."

"Kenny (Boyer) told me as I came out of the bullpen that I ought to keep the ball low and fast," said Taylor. "I did, and I threw a few curves and sliders. But I kept it low and no change-ups. It was the biggest thrill of my life to help win that game."

Boyer had slammed a high, inside change-up by Yankee loser Al Downing into the left-field stands with the bases loaded in the sixth.

"You know," said Boyer, "when I rounded third on that homer, I was kind of looking for Clete (his brother, the Yankee third baseman) to say something. He didn't say a word, and I didn't think it my place to say anything. I looked right at him, and he had a sort of puzzled look on his face."

The man who threw Boyer's home run ball, the left-handed Downing, said Yankee catcher Elston Howard had called for a fast ball and he waved it off.

"I'd gotten Boyer twice before on fast balls," Downing said, "but in a situation like that, when you think the guy is anxious, you try to get him to hit a bad pitch. I was trying to set him up for something, but he got that inside change-up."

Besieged by reporters, Yankee second baseman Richardson took all the blame for his error at second on what appeared to be an inning-ending double-play ball in the fateful Cardinal sixth.

"It was a ground ball hit to my right and I did not field it cleanly," Richardson said. "It got stuck in my web. As Phil (Linz, the shortstop) came across, I hesitated, throwing off his timing and when I threw it with my glove hand, (Curt) Flood hit Linz and he couldn't handle the throw.

"It was my fault all the way."

One Break, Boyer's Slam Evens Series At 2 And 2; Stottlemyre, Gibson Duel

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It was Branch Rickey, now a consultant with the St. Louis club, who once said:

"Luck is the residue of desire."

The Cardinals must have a lot of desire because through the years they have had a lot of luck in World Series play.

It is this residue of desire that helped the Cards win the World Series in 1926, 1930, 1934, 1942, 1944 and 1946.

The 4-3 triumph over the New York Yankees Sunday which squared the 1964 World Series at two victories apiece demonstrated anew that the Cardinal luck — ballplayers call it "breaks" — is still holding out.

In Missouri, they are singing the praises of Kenny Boyer, whose grand-slam homer in the sixth inning overcame a 3-0 Yankee lead.

In Lakewood, Calif., and Toronto, Canada, they are rejoicing over the brilliant relief pitching of hometown heroes Roger Craig and Ron Taylor.

In Houston, they are happy over Johnny Keane, who is managing the heck out of the Cardinals, seeking his first world championship in his 27th year of managing.

But in New York, they will tell you that it took a break for the Cardinals to win the fourth game — a rare miscue by the usually sure - handed Bobby Richardson on a sure-fire double-play ball that would have ended the inning without a score.

There were two runners on base with one out when Dick Groat hit a routine grounder to the right of second base. Richardson fielded the ball, tried to shovel it over to Phil Linz for what looked like the start of a twin killing.

Let Richardson explain what happened:

"It got stuck in my web. As Phil came across, I hesitated, throwing him off his timing and when I threw it with my gloved hand, (Curt) Flood hit Linz and he couldn't handle the throw."

Instead of the inning being over, the Cards had the bases loaded. Boyer unloaded them two pitches later with a smash into the left-field stands. Until then, young Al Downing had a three-hit shutout.

Thus, instead of the Yankees having a chance to end it at Yankee Stadium today, they must return to St. Louis Tuesday for a sixth game Wednesday, and perhaps a seventh game Thursday.

The Yankees' Mel Stottlemyre and the Cards' Bob Gibson, who clashed in the second game, renewed their rivalry in the fifth game.

Stottlemyre came out the winner in the first meeting, limiting the Cards to seven hits in an 8-3 triumph. Although he lost, Gibson was impressive, striking out nine in eight innings, permitting only two runs until he tired in the seventh.

Sunday's victory was credited to Craig, who handcuffed the Yankees with just two singles in 4 2-3 innings of relief pitching. The 33 - year - old right-hander took over with one out in the first inning after the Yankees had ranked starter Ray Sadecki for four straight hits.

Craig permitted a run-scoring single by Elston Howard, then allowed only one more while fanning eight before retiring for a pinch hitter in the sixth.

Carl Warwick came through with a single, giving him three pinch hits so far for a share of that Series record, igniting the winning rally.

Taylor polished off the Yankees without a hit over the last four innings.

"I like our club's chances better now than I did at the start of the Series," said Keane. "Winning this game set us up good. Our pitching is set for the final games, even if it goes the limit of seven. I sure like the way we stand."

Hands Monaca, 12-0, Loss

MONACA — Norman VanLier, who does about everything one can do on a football field, raced 93 yards with a punt return and threw for another touchdown as Midland pulled a mild upset in blanking Monaca, 12-0, here Saturday night.

Joe Cochran was a happy coach after the game as he saw his Leopards win their first game in five starts after tieing one and losing three frustrating games by the margin of one touchdown.

The Leopard defenders didn't allow Monaca closer than the 13 yard line and that came in the fourth quarter. One other time Monaca was on the Midland 25 where the defense tightened.

VanLier electrified the crowd on the game's opening kickoff when he grabbed the ball and ran 82 yards for a touchdown only to have it called back because of a penalty up field.

HIS SECOND touchdown was not called back. Midway in the first quarter the Midland quarterback caught a Monaca punt on his own seven. Given some key blocks by his teammates, VanLier rambled 93 yards for the touchdown which will go down as one of the longest TD runs by a Leopard player.

He missed on his placement for the extra point but Midland was on its way to victory No. 1.

In the second quarter, halfback Jimmy Smith intercepted a Monaca pass on the Midland 35. On first down from this point, Van Lier flipped a pass to Steve Alston who took the ball on the Monaca 47 slipped away from two tacklers and went all the way to paydirt.

THE TOUCHDOWN play covered 65 yards but again VanLier's placement went wide.

VanLier completed two of four passes for 95 yards during the contest while Midland's air game netted 114 yards. The Leopards showed 67 yards rushing.

Midland's defensive backs were alert, intercepting three Monaca aerials.

MONACA had a net of 127 yards rushing and added 75 in the air. The Leopards showed seven first downs to Monaca's 13.

The Indians now show a 3-2 record and went into the contest as a slight favorite. Midland owns a 1-3-1 record and moved into second place in the Midwestern Athletic Conference. Beaver is on top with two victories but shows a tie with Midland.

MIDLAND	6	6	0	0—12

Scoring:
Midland — VanLier 93 yd. run with punt return. (kick failed)
Midland — Alston 65 yd. pass from VanLier. (kick failed)

Martin Runs For 3 TD's At Wheeling

CLEVELAND (AP) — The United Football League's halfway mark rolled around over the weekend with the Canton Bulldogs defeating Charleston, 21-14, to move into a tie with the Rockets for first in the Western Division.

In the Eastern Division, fullback Roger Lopes paced the leading Indianapolis Warriors to a 52-14 lacing of Toledo and set a league rushing record of 218 yards against the Tornadoes.

Wheeling remained a game behind Indianapolis with a 42-25 conquest of the Joliet Explorers, and Grand Rapids tripped up the Quebec Rifles, 14-10.

Wellsville's John Henry Martin was the sparkplug for the Wheeling Ironmen Sunday night in the victory over Joliet by scoring three touchdowns.

Martin ran TD's for 17, 11 and one yard. He was the workhorse for the Ironmen gaining 120 yards in 15 carries.

The standings:

	W	L	Pts.	OPP
Eastern Division
Indianapolis	6	1	236	108
Wheeling	5	2	200	145

Charleston	5	2	200	93
Canton	5	2	139	107
Toledo	3	4	165	174
Grand Rapids	2	5	106	163

Ohio State scored 110 points last football season as against 102 for the opposition. The Buckeyes had a 5-3-1 record.

In the second period, Dick Ohle intercepted a Southern pass and ran 23 yards for a six-pointer. A Tom Henderson to Dick Reed pass netted the conversion.

Later in the same quarter, Dave Riley rambled 28 yards to paydirt as the conversion failed.

Southern's best threat came in the first half marching to the 15-yard line.

Richardson was taking the blame for the fouled-up double-play attempt that led to the St. Louis Cardinals' 4-3 World Series victory on Boyer's grand-slam home run.

In the Cardinal dressing room, Boyer hugged relievers Roger Craig and Ron Taylor, saying: "These are the guys who won the game."

Craig and Taylor, known more for giving up homers than for preventing them, teamed brilliantly from the first inning to chop off the vaunted Yankee offense that had scored three runs in the first.

"That has to be the finest relief work we've had," said Cardinal manager Johnny Keane. "It couldn't be improved upon. Craig and Taylor were splendid."

"My curve was sweeping and my control was good," Craig said. "It has to be one of my best-pitched games — Certainly the most thrilling."

"Kenny (Boyer) told me as I came out of the bullpen that I ought to keep the ball low and fast," said Taylor. "I did, and I threw a few curves and sliders. But I kept it low and no change-ups. It was the biggest thrill of my life to help win that game."

Boyer had slammed a high, inside change-up by Yankee loser Al Downing into the left-field stands with the bases loaded in the sixth.

"You know," said Boyer, "when I rounded third on that homer, I was kind of looking for Clete (his brother, the Yankee third baseman) to say something. He didn't say a word, and I didn't think it my place to say anything. I looked right at him, and he had a sort of puzzled look on his face."

The man who threw Boyer's home run ball, the left-handed Downing, said Yankee catcher Elston Howard had called for a fast ball and he waved it off.

"I'd gotten Boyer twice before on fast balls," Downing said, "but in a situation like that, when you think the guy is anxious, you try to get him to hit a bad pitch. I was trying to set him up for something, but he got that inside change-up."

Besieged by reporters, Yankee second baseman Richardson took all the blame for his error at second on what appeared to be an inning-ending double-play ball in the fateful Cardinal sixth.

"It was a ground ball hit to my right and I did not field it cleanly," Richardson said. "It got stuck in my web. As Phil (Linz, the shortstop) came across, I hesitated, throwing off his timing and when I threw it with my glove hand, (Curt) Flood hit Linz and he couldn't handle the throw.

"It was my fault all the way."

One Break, Boyer's Slam Evens Series At 2 And 2; Stottlemyre, Gibson Duel

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It was Branch Rickey, now a consultant with the St. Louis club, who once said:

"Luck is the residue of desire."

The Cardinals must have a lot of desire because through the years they have had a lot of luck in World Series play.

It is this residue of desire that helped the Cards win the World Series in 1926, 1930, 1934, 1942, 1944 and 1946.

The 4-3 triumph over the New York Yankees Sunday which squared the 1964 World Series at two victories apiece demonstrated anew that the Cardinal luck — ballplayers call it "breaks" — is still holding out.

In Missouri, they are singing the praises of Kenny Boyer, whose grand-slam homer in the sixth inning overcame a 3-0 Yankee lead.

In Lakewood, Calif., and Toronto, Canada, they are rejoicing over the brilliant relief pitching of hometown heroes Roger Craig and Ron Taylor.

In Houston, they are happy over Johnny Keane, who is managing the heck out of the Cardinals, seeking his first world championship in his 27th year of managing.

But in New York, they will tell you that it took a break for the Cardinals to win the fourth game — a rare miscue by the usually sure - handed Bobby Richardson on a sure-fire double-play ball that would have ended the inning without a score.

There were two runners on base with one out when Dick Groat hit a routine grounder to the right of second base. Richardson fielded the ball, tried to shovel it over to Phil Linz for what looked like the start of a twin killing.

Let Richardson explain what happened:

"It got stuck in my web. As Phil came across, I hesitated, throwing him off his timing and when I threw it with my gloved hand, (Curt) Flood hit Linz and he couldn't handle the throw."

Instead of the inning being over, the Cards had the bases loaded. Boyer unloaded them two pitches later with a smash into the left-field stands. Until then, young Al Downing had a three-hit shutout.

Thus, instead of the Yankees having a chance to end it at Yankee Stadium today, they must return to St. Louis Tuesday for a sixth game Wednesday, and perhaps a seventh game Thursday.

Stottlemyre came out the winner in the first meeting, limiting the Cards to seven hits in an 8-3 triumph. Although he lost, Gibson was impressive, striking out nine in eight innings, permitting only two runs until he tired in the seventh.

Sunday's victory was credited to Craig, who handcuffed the Yankees with just two singles in 4 2-3 innings of relief pitching. The 33 - year - old right-hander took over with one out in the first inning after the Yankees had ranked starter Ray Sadecki for four straight hits.

Craig permitted a run-scoring single by Elston Howard, then allowed only one more while fanning eight before retiring for a pinch hitter in the sixth.

Carl Warwick came through with a single, giving him three pinch hits so far for a share of that Series record, igniting the winning rally.

Taylor polished off the Yankees without a hit over the last four innings.

"I like our club's chances better now than I did at the start of the Series," said Keane. "Winning this game set us up good. Our pitching is set for the final games, even if it goes the limit of seven. I sure like the way we stand."

Hands Monaca, 12-0, Loss

MONACA — Norman VanLier, who does about everything one can do on a football field, raced 93 yards with a punt return and threw for another touchdown as Midland pulled a mild upset in blanking Monaca, 12-0, here Saturday night.

Joe Cochran was a happy coach after the game as he saw his Leopards win their first game in five starts after tieing one and losing three frustrating games by the margin of one touchdown.

The Leopard defenders didn't allow Monaca closer than the 13 yard line and that came in the fourth quarter. One other time Monaca was on the Midland 25 where the defense tightened.

VanLier electrified the crowd on the game's opening kickoff when he grabbed the ball and ran 82 yards for a touchdown only to have it called back because of a penalty up field.

HIS SECOND touchdown was not called back. Midway in the first quarter the Midland quarterback caught a Monaca punt on his own seven. Given some key blocks by his teammates, VanLier rambled 93 yards for the touchdown which will go down as one of the longest TD runs by a Leopard player.

He missed on his placement for the extra point but Midland was on its way to victory No. 1.

In the second quarter, halfback Jimmy Smith intercepted a Monaca pass on the Midland 35. On first down from this point, Van Lier flipped a pass to Steve Alston who took the ball on the Monaca 47 slipped away from two tacklers and went all the way to paydirt.

THE TOUCHDOWN play covered 65 yards but again VanLier's placement went wide.

VanLier completed two of four passes for 95 yards during the contest while Midland's air game netted 114 yards. The Leopards showed 67 yards rushing.

Midland's defensive backs were alert, intercepting three Monaca aerials.

MONACA had a net of 127 yards rushing and added 75 in the air. The Leopards showed seven first downs to Monaca's 13.

The Indians now show a 3-2 record and went into the contest as a slight favorite. Midland owns a 1-3-1 record and moved into second place in the Midwestern Athletic Conference. Beaver is on top with two victories but shows a tie with Midland.

Wheeling remained a game behind Indianapolis with a 42-25 conquest of the Joliet Explorers, and Grand Rapids tripped up the Quebec Rifles, 14-10.

Wellsville's John Henry Martin was the sparkplug for the Wheeling Ironmen Sunday night in the victory over Joliet by scoring three touchdowns.

United Turns Back Beavers, 44-28: Gaydos' Passing Gains 209 Yards

By PAT BONVENUTO

Quarterback Norm Gaydos put on a sparkling aerial show for Beaver Local Saturday night, but it was in a losing cause as United Local exhibited a powerful running game to stun a chill-

Gaydos hit on 15 of 21 pass attempts, with 6' 2" Junior end Dick Rudibaugh his favorite target. His passes were good for 209 yards.

Late in the first period United Drove 58 yards for its first score. Halfback Martin Briceland capped the drive by going over from two yards out. Gene Metzger, speedy and deceptive halfback, ran the conversion to put the visitors ahead, 8-0.

THE BLUE and Gold went ahead 14-0 early in the second quarter when Halfback Fritz Ziegler shot off right tackle and sprinted 45 yards untouched to paydirt. The conversion failed.

On the next series of plays, with Gaydos completing five of five pass attempts, the Beavers clipped off 61 yards to score. Gaydos climaxed the onslaught by sneaking over from one-foot out. A Gaydos to Shilling pass converted.

With Ziegler doing most of the ball carrying, United moved to the Beavers' 22 from its own 47. Briceland then galloped the remaining distance to put United ahead, 20-8. Metzger, on a pitch out, ran over for the extra point.

JUNIOR quarterback Jeff Lane set up the second Red and White score as he ran back the kickoff 39 yards to place the ball on the Beaver Local 49. Gaydos then dropped back to pass, found running room instead, and scooted to the United 35.

Interference was called on a Gaydos-to-Mike Lynn pass which set the pigskin on the 22. Halfback Larry Stitler grabbed a pass and was knocked out of bounds on the 12. A completed pass to Rudibaugh moved to the one. Junior Fullback Al Copestick carried over for the TD. Another Gaydos to Rudibaugh pass made the score 28-16.

FOLLOWING the kickoff and operating from tis own 40, United scored on three plays, featuring Ziegler's 49-yard run to the end zone. Briceland's run for the extra point failed and United led, 28-16.

The Beavers stormed right back as Gaydos hit Rudibaugh for two complete passes, the last one covering 34 yards for the touchdown, completing a series of five plays that began on the Red and White 42. A pass for the conversion failed and Beaver Local trailed, 28-22.

Relentlessly, United struck back in a lightning series of four plays. Ziegler stormed 23 yards to the Beaver 30. After Metzger ran around left end to the 24, Briceland dashed over right tackle for the score. An Allen to Farmer pass was good for the extra point. United 36, Beaver Local 22.

FEATURING Gaydos' running and passing, Beaver Local drove 57 yards for its next score after Copestick ran back the kickoff from his own 30 to the Beaver's 43. Gaydos ran around left end to the United 40. Stitler took a Gaydos pass and ran to the 18. After Gaydos picked up six yards around his right end, Copestick pounded the center of the United line three times to go in for the score. Copestick's run for the extra point fell short.

The United machine scored again late in the third quarter. Al Carrino's aggregation struck quickly as Metzger unleashed a 65-yard run for United, icing the game, 42-28. Farmer took a pass in for the conversion to make the final count 44-28, as both teams failed to score in the final stanza.

2 Arizona Girls Capture Medals; U.S. Cagers Win

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

TOKYO (AP) — A couple of Arizona girls, Jeanne Collier and Patsy Willard, grabbed the first U.S. medals of the Tokyo Olympics today and the Yankee basketball team continued to roll, but an upset and an injury produced two major disappointments.

Miss Collier, pert 18-year-old high school student from Phoenix, won the silver, or second-place, medal in women's springboard diving, just edging out Miss Willard, from Mesa, who won the bronze.

"I don't know how I did it," the elated, 5-foot-1 Jeanne said. "I'm still too excited to talk."

The Americans' swimming and basketball teams continued to dominate their events as expected.

The basketball team, led by Jerry Shipp of Bartlesville, Okla., and Joe Caldwell of Arizona State University pounded Finland 77-51 for its second straight victory.

Shipp tossed in 18 points and Caldwell contributed 16 in the 40th straight U.S. basketball triumph since the sport was introduced in the 1936 Berlin Olympics.

The swimmers put the maximum three U.S. members in the semifinals of both the women's 100-meter freestyle and the men's 400 - meter individual medley.

In the women's event, Australia's Dawn Fraser equaled her own Olympic record with a 1:00.6 but said she expected major difficulty from Sharon Stouder of Glendora, Calif.

Carl Robie, 19-year-old University of Michigan student, had the fastest time in the 400-meter individual medley, 4:52 flat and moved into the semis with Roy Saari of El Segundo, Calif., and Dick Roth of Alerton, Calif.

The big news for the United States on the second day of competition, however, was the silver medal by Miss Collier. She executed an extremely difficult reverse 1½ somersault with 1½ twist on her final dive, moving from third to second place with a total of 138.36 points.

Miss Willard had 138.18 and Sue Gossick of Tarzana, Calif., was fourth with 129.70.

A pretty East German girl, defending champion Ingrid Kramer-Engel, won the gold medal with 145.0 points.

The major disappointments came in the form of an upset to welterweight boxer Maurice Frilot, a prime gold medal prospect, and an ankle injury to distance-running sensation Gerry Lindgren.

Lindgren, an 18-year-old from Spokane who captured the track fancy of the nation with his exploits as a schoolboy, twisted an ankle while training. It was badly swollen just two days before he is scheduled to run in the 10,000 meters.

Jurgensen Passes Skins To 35-20 Win Over Eagles

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore hosts St. Louis tonight in a National Football League game that could shake up the two division standings a bit, but the talk around the league is about Sonny Jurgensen, the quarterback the Philadelphia Eagles didn't want.

Jurgensen put on a spectacular passing show as the Washington Redskins won their first game of the season, 35-20, against the Eagles Sunday.

The veteran signal caller discussed the game with a smile.

"It's a heck of a lot easier," Jurgensen said, "to throw the ball standing up."

Jurgensen spent most of his first four games as a Redskin nursing a bad left knee on the sidelines or massaging the turf when he did play. It was a different story Sunday.

He clicked on 22 of 33 passes for 386 yards and five touchdowns. It was the best one-day show by an NFL quarterback this year and the fact that Jurgensen did it against the Eagles didn't exactly sadden the ex-Philadelphia passer.

Elsewhere in the NFL Sunday, Green Bay topped San Francisco 24 - 14, Chicago whacked Los Angeles 38-17, Detroit outlasted Minnesota 24-20 and New York struggled to a 13-13 tie against Dallas. In a Saturday night game Pittsburgh upset Cleveland 23-7.

The Packers' Paul Hornung suffered a pinched shoulder nerve in second period and handled only kicking chores after that. But Taylor's rushing picked up the slack.

Billy Wade fired four touchdown passes, two each to Johnny Morris and Mike Ditka, as the Bears snapped their two-game losing string. Chicago turned three interceptions into scores in the first half and raced to a 24-3 halftime margin.

United Turns Back Beavers, 44-28: Gaydos' Passing Gains 209 Yards

By PAT BONVENUTO

Quarterback Norm Gaydos put on a sparkling aerial show for Beaver Local Saturday night, but it was in a losing cause as United Local exhibited a powerful running game to stun a chill-

Late in the first period United Drove 58 yards for its first score. Halfback Martin Briceland capped the drive by going over from two yards out. Gene Metzger, speedy and deceptive halfback, ran the conversion to put the visitors ahead, 8-0.

THE BLUE and Gold went ahead 14-0 early in the second quarter when Halfback Fritz Ziegler shot off right tackle and sprinted 45 yards untouched to paydirt. The conversion failed.

On the next series of plays, with Gaydos completing five of five pass attempts, the Beavers clipped off 61 yards to score. Gaydos climaxed the onslaught by sneaking over from one-foot out. A Gaydos to Shilling pass converted.

With Ziegler doing most of the ball carrying, United moved to the Beavers' 22 from its own 47. Briceland then galloped the remaining distance to put United ahead, 20-8. Metzger, on a pitch out, ran over for the extra point.

JUNIOR quarterback Jeff Lane set up the second Red and White score as he ran back the kickoff 39 yards to place the ball on the Beaver Local 49. Gaydos then dropped back to pass, found running room instead, and scooted to the United 35.

Interference was called on a Gaydos-to-Mike Lynn pass which set the pigskin on the 22. Halfback Larry Stitler grabbed a pass and was knocked out of bounds on the 12. A completed pass to Rudibaugh moved to the one. Junior Fullback Al Copestick carried over for the TD. Another Gaydos to Rudibaugh pass made the score 28-16.

FOLLOWING the kickoff and operating from tis own 40, United scored on three plays, featuring Ziegler's 49-yard run to the end zone. Briceland's run for the extra point failed and United led, 28-16.

The Beavers stormed right back as Gaydos hit Rudibaugh for two complete passes, the last one covering 34 yards for the touchdown, completing a series of five plays that began on the Red and White 42. A pass for the conversion failed and Beaver Local trailed, 28-22.

Relentlessly, United struck back in a lightning series of four plays. Ziegler stormed 23 yards to the Beaver 30. After Metzger ran around left end to the 24, Briceland dashed over right tackle for the score. An Allen to Farmer pass was good for the extra point. United 36, Beaver Local 22.

FEATURING Gaydos' running and passing, Beaver Local drove 57 yards for its next score after Copestick ran back the kickoff from his own 30 to the Beaver's 43. Gaydos ran around left end to the United 40. Stitler took a Gaydos pass and ran to the 18. After Gaydos picked up six yards around his right end, Copestick pounded the center of the United line three times to go in for the score. Copestick's run for the extra point fell short.

The United machine scored again late in the third quarter. Al Carrino's aggregation struck quickly as Metzger unleashed a 65-yard run for United, icing the game, 42-28. Farmer took a pass in for the conversion to make the final count 44-28, as both teams failed to score in the final stanza.

McCallister Captures Sunset Golf Tourney

SUNSET CITY, Calif. (AP) — Bob McCallister headed for Las Vegas, Nev., today $3,300 richer, after coming out on top in a wild scramble for first place in the $25,000 Sunset-Camellia Open Golf Tournament.

Player's Name Wrong

It was Bill Jones who made a key interception for East Junior High School in a 6-0 victory over Beaver Local on Wednesday, instead of Dale Jones as was reported in an account of the game.

2 Arizona Girls Capture Medals; U.S. Cagers Win

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

TOKYO (AP) — A couple of Arizona girls, Jeanne Collier and Patsy Willard, grabbed the first U.S. medals of the Tokyo Olympics today and the Yankee basketball team continued to roll, but an upset and an injury produced two major disappointments.

Miss Collier, pert 18-year-old high school student from Phoenix, won the silver, or second-place, medal in women's springboard diving, just edging out Miss Willard, from Mesa, who won the bronze.

"I don't know how I did it," the elated, 5-foot-1 Jeanne said. "I'm still too excited to talk."

The Americans' swimming and basketball teams continued to dominate their events as expected.

The basketball team, led by Jerry Shipp of Bartlesville, Okla., and Joe Caldwell of Arizona State University pounded Finland 77-51 for its second straight victory.

Shipp tossed in 18 points and Caldwell contributed 16 in the 40th straight U.S. basketball triumph since the sport was introduced in the 1936 Berlin Olympics.

The swimmers put the maximum three U.S. members in the semifinals of both the women's 100-meter freestyle and the men's 400 - meter individual medley.

In the women's event, Australia's Dawn Fraser equaled her own Olympic record with a 1:00.6 but said she expected major difficulty from Sharon Stouder of Glendora, Calif.

Carl Robie, 19-year-old University of Michigan student, had the fastest time in the 400-meter individual medley, 4:52 flat and moved into the semis with Roy Saari of El Segundo, Calif., and Dick Roth of Alerton, Calif.

The big news for the United States on the second day of competition, however, was the silver medal by Miss Collier. She executed an extremely difficult reverse 1½ somersault with 1½ twist on her final dive, moving from third to second place with a total of 138.36 points.

Miss Willard had 138.18 and Sue Gossick of Tarzana, Calif., was fourth with 129.70.

A pretty East German girl, defending champion Ingrid Kramer-Engel, won the gold medal with 145.0 points.

The major disappointments came in the form of an upset to welterweight boxer Maurice Frilot, a prime gold medal prospect, and an ankle injury to distance-running sensation Gerry Lindgren.

Lindgren, an 18-year-old from Spokane who captured the track fancy of the nation with his exploits as a schoolboy, twisted an ankle while training. It was badly swollen just two days before he is scheduled to run in the 10,000 meters.

Six tiny muscles control the movement of each of our eyes.

Constitution Stand Still Unjelled

PHOENIX, Ariz (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona heads into the final three weeks of campaigning still thwarted in efforts to dramatize the back-to-the-Constitution stand he calls the overriding issue in the presidential contest.

In wide-ranging attacks on President Johnson in his coast-to-coast journeys, the Republican presidential nominee has tried out a variety of approaches to the voters with results that do not seem to have satisfied him fully.

He has assailed the President for promoting coexistence with the Communists. He has argued with administration officials over the reliability, deliverability and control of nuclear weapons.

Goldwater has pictured himself as a champion of Social Security while condemning the Johnson proposal for tax-financed health care for the elderly. He has called for a five per cent annual reduction in income taxes, promising at the same time to balance the budget.

He has charged the President with "reckless spending" and mocked Johnson as a man who carries a "shopping list" from which he invites voters to select their benefits.

Goldwater has called for a "return of morality" to the White House. He has sparked some of his loudest applause by jibing at Johnson's former association with Bobby Baker and asserting that "the shadow of scandal falls across the White House itself."

While he generally has avoided direct statements on civil rights, he told rallies in the prosperous suburbs of Philadelphia — where the so-called white backlash is presumed to exist — that minorities are running the government under Johnson. He has inveighed against crime in the streets.

These issues have been offered singly and in groups, with careful checks made of the reaction to each. Judging from the scattergun approach the GOP nominee still is using, none has showed up as a sockwalloper by itself.

Goldwater keeps coming back to the constitutional issue of "what kind of a country are we going to have tomorrow?" He charges that Johnson has embraced socialism, which he described in Lubbock, Tex., as "not evil" although highly undesirable.

Smoke Kills Boy In Blaze Started By Older Brother

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three young children left alone at home and a fascination by one of them with a cigarette lighter were the deadly ingredients leading to a fire that killed an 11-month-old boy.

The victim, William Hawks, was lying motionless on the floor of his smoke-filled bedroom Sunday when firemen reached him. He could not be revived with oxygen.

Firemen who smashed their way into the second-floor apartment said the flames did not reach the boy. He seemed to sense the danger and had crawled from his crib.

Fourth Battalion Chief Michael Masterson said the victim's 7-year-old brother, Fisher Hawks Jr., had been in a clothes closet next to William's bedroom and was playing with a cigarette lighter when some clothes caught fire. He dropped the lighter and ran from the two-story frame building with his sister, Reese, 11. The children's mother was visiting neighbors a few houses away.

Thief Obtains $47 And Ring

The theft was reported Sunday morning by Mrs. Alice Ferguson, 304 Norton St., an employe of Jerry's Auto Store on Washington St. She said the purse was taken sometime between noon and 1:10 from a spot on the steps in the store, where she left it because it was too large to place underneath the counter.

In addition to the currency and some change, the purse contained a white gold ring set with pearls and rhinestones, spectacles, a driver's license and miscellaneous items, she said. Mrs. Helen King, also an employe, said she saw the purse in place about noon. Mrs. Ferguson noted the theft at 1:10.

Ernest MacKenzie, 306 Washington St., told police late Saturday morning 11 storm windows were stolen sometime during the summer from their storage space on the rafters in his garage.

MacKenzie told officers he stored the windows in the garage when removing them from his home last spring and discovered the loss when he prepared to install them again for the winter.

Robert McMahon, 825 Laura Ave., told police Sunday morning the left rear window of his 1963 auto was broken by a vandal sometime between 10:30 p. m. Saturday and 10 a. m. yesterday while the car was parked at his home.

Constitution Stand Still Unjelled

PHOENIX, Ariz (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona heads into the final three weeks of campaigning still thwarted in efforts to dramatize the back-to-the-Constitution stand he calls the overriding issue in the presidential contest.

In wide-ranging attacks on President Johnson in his coast-to-coast journeys, the Republican presidential nominee has tried out a variety of approaches to the voters with results that do not seem to have satisfied him fully.

He has assailed the President for promoting coexistence with the Communists. He has argued with administration officials over the reliability, deliverability and control of nuclear weapons.

Goldwater has pictured himself as a champion of Social Security while condemning the Johnson proposal for tax-financed health care for the elderly. He has called for a five per cent annual reduction in income taxes, promising at the same time to balance the budget.

He has charged the President with "reckless spending" and mocked Johnson as a man who carries a "shopping list" from which he invites voters to select their benefits.

Goldwater has called for a "return of morality" to the White House. He has sparked some of his loudest applause by jibing at Johnson's former association with Bobby Baker and asserting that "the shadow of scandal falls across the White House itself."

While he generally has avoided direct statements on civil rights, he told rallies in the prosperous suburbs of Philadelphia — where the so-called white backlash is presumed to exist — that minorities are running the government under Johnson. He has inveighed against crime in the streets.

These issues have been offered singly and in groups, with careful checks made of the reaction to each. Judging from the scattergun approach the GOP nominee still is using, none has showed up as a sockwalloper by itself.

Goldwater keeps coming back to the constitutional issue of "what kind of a country are we going to have tomorrow?" He charges that Johnson has embraced socialism, which he described in Lubbock, Tex., as "not evil" although highly undesirable.

He told an opulent audience at the World Affairs Council in Los Angeles that the people don't want a paternalistic government such as he said Johnson is conducting.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Jon Provost's Days Are Over

Master Jon Provost and his mother, Cecile, would like the world to know it was they who left Lassie, not the other way around. "I don't know how those stories about our wanting too much money or Mr. Wrather wanting to get rid of Jon to make the show more adult, but they aren't true," says the petite, blonde Mrs. Provost, who isn't much bigger than son Jon.

Hal Humphrey

"Mr. Wrather (he owns the show you know) wanted my husband and me to sign another three-year contract for Jon, but we decided it was time to let him grow up. He's never been in school with other kids before."

-:-

MRS. PROVOST says she never asked for a raise for Jon, but the boy got one each of the seven years he played Lassie's master.

Jon started for Screen Actors Guild scale, or approximately $350 a week, and was getting in the neighborhood of $1,250 when he left.

"I think kids in movies and TV are overpaid anyway," says Mrs. Provost. "It only puts them in a bracket where they don't get the money, really."

Mail has been coming in to the network and the sponsor of Lassie for 10 years to protest the splitting up of Lassie and the family this season.

In a reply to one such letter, the sponsor explained that the change in the Lassie show was the decision of Jon's parents, then added the following poignant paragraph:

"Jon will be 14 on his next birthday, and although he has been on the Lassie show for seven years he now for several years will cut off his fine income as well as his career . . ."

"Oh, I miss the dog, but every other weekend I go to the ranch and see him. And you know what? I think Lassie really misses me," says Jon.

Besides becoming acclimated to a schoolroom and other kids, Jon is renewing acquaintance with his brother, Bill, 19, and sister, Francile, 18, who rarely got to see the acting member of the family.

Jon was only 2½ when his mother read in Hedda Hopper's gossip column how Warner Bros. couldn't find a 3-year-old kid who would take direction for a part in "So Big," a movie with Jane Wyman.

"The next day I showed up with Jon and 300 other kids. Most of them were squalling. But Jon did everything just right in the test scene, and they picked him that same day," Mrs. Provost recalls, proudly.

Jon made several pictures after that. Then in 1957, at age 7, he succeeded Tommy Rettig, whose beard was getting heavier than Lassie's.

Jon is still small for his 14 years, which gripes him considerably, but his size easily qualified him to play a Little Leaguer in a "Mr. Ed" episode the other day.

Jon will do spot acting jobs whenever he can, just to keep his hand in and his name on the Screen Actors Guild rolls, because he has decided that acting is the career he wants to follow.

Mrs. Provost, who spent a good part of the past seven years on the Lassie set with son Jon, is having to do some adjusting, too. She is rediscovering her kitchen and doesn't seem too thrilled over the experience.

"I must admit I loved every minute of those seven years," says Cecile Provost.

Young Puts Baseball Blame On Republicans

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Stephen M. Young used a baseball as a theme to hit at his Republican opponent Rep. Robert Taft Jr., and GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

"When Goldwater came to Ohio, the Cleveland Indians started looking for happier and more peaceful hunting grounds," the 75-year-old Cleveland Democrat said Sunday night.

Bringing Up Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Eating Problems Can Be Nipped Early

We parents wish the child at any age to enjoy the foods prepared for him. With instructions from her physician and with reading and hearing information on what foods to select and how to prepare them attractively, the average mother may easily learn what foods to provide for the growing child. It's not so easy for her to learn how to cultivate in the child enjoyment of the foods she prepares for him.

Dr. Garry Myers

When at the age of two, six or fourteen, her child refuses to eat some or all of the most essential foods offered him, she may not easily solve this problem. Sometimes there are tragic scenes of emotional orgy at every meal over the youngster's eating, especially when the young child eats with the family; and the longer these scenes have been practiced, the harder they are to correct.

SOMETIMES the whole family is involved and upset. Certainly the child who is the center of the scene is upset, a fact which is usually overlooked by his parents.

You may know the child who at five, six or fifteen chooses to eat little or none of the foods on the family table. He may demand one or more other foods and may go to the kitchen and find or prepare them for himself, if his mother doesn't promptly supply them. The foods he thus chooses may not be nearly as nutritious as the foods at the family table. Thus he may not have a balanced diet. Besides, he may be building like habits for a lifetime, in addition to his constant annoyance to the rest of the family.

Beginning with the young infant, assume he will take his food when he wants it. If, for example, you are offering him his bottle and he refuses to take it or to finish it, don't try to force him to do so. Calmly put it away till his next feeding period. If his disinterest in the bottle continues for a second or third successive feeding, consult your pediatrician (baby doctor).

INTRODUCE semi - solid or solid foods as he advises you. If the infant screws up his mouth or closes it against a strange food, wait for a later time to try him again. Any trial should be very gentle. If, after he accepts several morsels of a certain food, he refuses more, don't push it into him. If at any time he holds food in his mouth, you should push no more into it.

Within the range of foods recommended for the infant, vary the ones offered, within reason, but be careful not to substitute another food too readily right after he refuses one. As he grows older, hope that he will learn that he may choose the foods he likes most but that the range of choice is limited.

As soon as the baby shows interest in feeding himself, encourage him to do so, however awkwardly. When he fees himself, he takes no more of any food than he likes or faster than he likes. When you feed him, you may be tempted to try to push food into him he dislikes, in too - large morsels, or too fast (or too long).

WHEN THE tot eats with the family, see that they mind their own business. Try to keep your own lips sealed and your insides still. Place before him just one food at a time, a very small portion of it, preferably a desirable one he will like. Don't tell him he must eat it. If he refuses the food, quietly remove it and, as a rule, offer him no more food, except some fruit juice, perhaps, till the next mealtime.

You may chose then to offer him a different food at the beginning, and proceed as before. If he holds out for several meals, consult your physician.

Reports Due On Midland's Fund Appeal

A report on Midland's progress in the annual appeal for the United Funds of Beaver County will be presented at a meeting tonight at 7:30 in Lincoln High School.

Countywide, the first week of the drive netted $383,564 or 4 per cent of the goal of $831,327. The month-long drive will close Nov. 6.

Three more report meetings are due Tuesday noon. They will be: In Aliquippa at Villa's Inn, in Ambridge at the Eagles Club and for the Upper Beaver Valley at the Beaver Valley Country Club.

In the initial reports, the Upper Beaver Valley Area led in local reporting with 61 per cent of its $184,114 goal. The Upper Valley campaign will close Oct. 28, a week ahead of other areas.

The Central Beaver Valley Area listed $7,188, or 49 per cent of its $14,636 goal.

Other local reports were: Midland, $20,117, or 34 per cent of its goal; Aliquippa, $112,946; Ambridge, $45,940; Beaver, $18,731; Monaca, $35,047, and Rochester, $14,427.

"We are off to a good start," he said. "But despite our fine initial reports, we have a long way to go to achieve the goal. Each dollar received will provide needed care and assistance for more than 50,000 persons served annually by 43 United Fund agencies."

He asked all Beaver Countians to pledge a half hour's pay per month. Thirty-two of the 3-major corporate givers already have made their 1964 pledges, Tosh said.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Jon Provost's Days Are Over

Master Jon Provost and his mother, Cecile, would like the world to know it was they who left Lassie, not the other way around. "I don't know how those stories about our wanting too much money or Mr. Wrather wanting to get rid of Jon to make the show more adult, but they aren't true," says the petite, blonde Mrs. Provost, who isn't much bigger than son Jon.

Hal Humphrey

"Mr. Wrather (he owns the show you know) wanted my husband and me to sign another three-year contract for Jon, but we decided it was time to let him grow up. He's never been in school with other kids before."

-:-

MRS. PROVOST says she never asked for a raise for Jon, but the boy got one each of the seven years he played Lassie's master.

Jon started for Screen Actors Guild scale, or approximately $350 a week, and was getting in the neighborhood of $1,250 when he left.

"I think kids in movies and TV are overpaid anyway," says Mrs. Provost. "It only puts them in a bracket where they don't get the money, really."

Mail has been coming in to the network and the sponsor of Lassie for 10 years to protest the splitting up of Lassie and the family this season.

In a reply to one such letter, the sponsor explained that the change in the Lassie show was the decision of Jon's parents, then added the following poignant paragraph:

"Jon will be 14 on his next birthday, and although he has been on the Lassie show for seven years he now for several years will cut off his fine income as well as his career . . ."

"Oh, I miss the dog, but every other weekend I go to the ranch and see him. And you know what? I think Lassie really misses me," says Jon.

Besides becoming acclimated to a schoolroom and other kids, Jon is renewing acquaintance with his brother, Bill, 19, and sister, Francile, 18, who rarely got to see the acting member of the family.

Jon was only 2½ when his mother read in Hedda Hopper's gossip column how Warner Bros. couldn't find a 3-year-old kid who would take direction for a part in "So Big," a movie with Jane Wyman.

"The next day I showed up with Jon and 300 other kids. Most of them were squalling. But Jon did everything just right in the test scene, and they picked him that same day," Mrs. Provost recalls, proudly.

Jon made several pictures after that. Then in 1957, at age 7, he succeeded Tommy Rettig, whose beard was getting heavier than Lassie's.

Jon is still small for his 14 years, which gripes him considerably, but his size easily qualified him to play a Little Leaguer in a "Mr. Ed" episode the other day.

Jon will do spot acting jobs whenever he can, just to keep his hand in and his name on the Screen Actors Guild rolls, because he has decided that acting is the career he wants to follow.

Mrs. Provost, who spent a good part of the past seven years on the Lassie set with son Jon, is having to do some adjusting, too. She is rediscovering her kitchen and doesn't seem too thrilled over the experience.

"I must admit I loved every minute of those seven years," says Cecile Provost.

Young Puts Baseball Blame On Republicans

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Stephen M. Young used a baseball as a theme to hit at his Republican opponent Rep. Robert Taft Jr., and GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

"When Goldwater came to Ohio, the Cleveland Indians started looking for happier and more peaceful hunting grounds," the 75-year-old Cleveland Democrat said Sunday night.

Continuing with the baseball theme, Young, seeking to retain his Senate seat, added:

Bringing Up Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Eating Problems Can Be Nipped Early

We parents wish the child at any age to enjoy the foods prepared for him. With instructions from her physician and with reading and hearing information on what foods to select and how to prepare them attractively, the average mother may easily learn what foods to provide for the growing child. It's not so easy for her to learn how to cultivate in the child enjoyment of the foods she prepares for him.

Dr. Garry Myers

When at the age of two, six or fourteen, her child refuses to eat some or all of the most essential foods offered him, she may not easily solve this problem. Sometimes there are tragic scenes of emotional orgy at every meal over the youngster's eating, especially when the young child eats with the family; and the longer these scenes have been practiced, the harder they are to correct.

SOMETIMES the whole family is involved and upset. Certainly the child who is the center of the scene is upset, a fact which is usually overlooked by his parents.

You may know the child who at five, six or fifteen chooses to eat little or none of the foods on the family table. He may demand one or more other foods and may go to the kitchen and find or prepare them for himself, if his mother doesn't promptly supply them. The foods he thus chooses may not be nearly as nutritious as the foods at the family table. Thus he may not have a balanced diet. Besides, he may be building like habits for a lifetime, in addition to his constant annoyance to the rest of the family.

Beginning with the young infant, assume he will take his food when he wants it. If, for example, you are offering him his bottle and he refuses to take it or to finish it, don't try to force him to do so. Calmly put it away till his next feeding period. If his disinterest in the bottle continues for a second or third successive feeding, consult your pediatrician (baby doctor).

INTRODUCE semi - solid or solid foods as he advises you. If the infant screws up his mouth or closes it against a strange food, wait for a later time to try him again. Any trial should be very gentle. If, after he accepts several morsels of a certain food, he refuses more, don't push it into him. If at any time he holds food in his mouth, you should push no more into it.

Within the range of foods recommended for the infant, vary the ones offered, within reason, but be careful not to substitute another food too readily right after he refuses one. As he grows older, hope that he will learn that he may choose the foods he likes most but that the range of choice is limited.

As soon as the baby shows interest in feeding himself, encourage him to do so, however awkwardly. When he fees himself, he takes no more of any food than he likes or faster than he likes. When you feed him, you may be tempted to try to push food into him he dislikes, in too - large morsels, or too fast (or too long).

Full House Sees Singers' Parade

By CLARA HALL

Mardi Gras, the time of revelry and romance, was demonstrated elaborately when Sweet Adelines, Inc., presented their fifth annual parade of quartets to a full house Saturday night at Westgate School.

Proving to be one of the most colorful productions, the chorus members went down the aisle wearing mummery headgear from Mickey Mouse to Smoky the Bear. Brightly - colored clown ruffles at the neckline and wrists added an accent to their white sheath dresses. Whistles and streamers provided the carnival atmosphere.

THE BACKGROUND on the stage included a sparkling blue fountain, a large weeping willow tree, an improvised wrought iron balcony and many floral arrangements in tall receptacles. The silver decorated orange program booklets featured photographs of the chorus, director and participating quartets.

MRS. SONYA ROSE, show chairman and immediate past president, was named "Adeline of the Year." She received the crown, plaque and corsage from Mrs. Ruth Rinehart, last year's winner.

Two SPEBSQSA quartets were featured in the first part of the program. The Westinghouse Quartet from Pittsburgh presented a couple of novelty numbers, "The Spaniard That Blighted My Life," featuring a female mimic, and a humorous aria from the opera, "Rigoletto," in which they used bells. The group comprised of Alvin Headrick, Walter Eibeck, John Power and James Tepe, are past Johnny Appleseed District champions.

Wearing bright green brocade Mandarin - style dresses "The China Belles" of the local chapter sang "Banjo's Back in Town" and "Peaceful River," the numbers they sang last spring when they entered their first competition at Washington, D. C. Mrs. Juanita Garver, Mrs. Nancy Beaver, Mrs. Loretta Willoughby and Mrs. Dietz plan to enter the contest in March at New York City.

THE PRIDE of the local chapter, "The Heathertones," who won the international competition last fall at Toronto, Canada, wore their sparkling crowns and satin capes. Among their selections was a catchy tune, "Step Up And Say Hello." The queens of harmony are Mrs. Lorida Harvey, Mrs. Betty Pettibon, Miss Norma Jones and Mrs. Bette Damaska. Next Saturday night, they will be in Minneapolis, where they will crown the newly - named champions.

The Gibson Girls of the Golden Triangle Chapter in Pittsburgh presented a clever musical skit in place of routine performance. With four hat trees, complete with mirrors, as stage props, they sang popular numbers of several eras modeling the chapeau that went along with that period.

THE AUDIENCE joined in the clapping for the number, "In Those Cotton Fields Back Home." Jones read the narration. Mrs. Anne McKay, Mrs. Naomi Haberlein, Mrs. Irene Beutler and Miss Gladys Clarke form the group, international champions.

At the after - glo at St. Aloysius Parochial School Hall, the place also featured an atmosphere of festivity with balloons and streamers suspended from the ceiling. The individual tables were decorated with favors consisting of masks, whistles, balloons and mint cups.

—:—

MRS. ROSE presented several gifts to the director in behalf of the chapter. Woods has resigned, as he plans to complete his schooling for a degree in electrical engineering. He received a standing ovation because of his work since the inception of the chapter, which he was instrumental in organizing.

The China Belles sang an original song, "Best of All Directors," set to the tune of "Sweetest Little Fellow." Mrs. Dietz was mistress of ceremonies and all the quartets and the chorus performed.

Member Drive Successful

Another Concert Booked For Civic Music Series

The recent membership drive was so successful that the Tri-State Music Association has booked an additional concert for the forthcoming season. The series will be held at Westgate School.

Sponsors said the "bonus" concert will be the opener, "Kaleidoscope," to be presented Dec. 12 at 8:15 p. m. The group of two male and two female singers features Irving Barnes, former local resident. Their program includes vocal masterworks ranging from Baroque to Broadway, in solo, duet, trio and quartet arrangements with each number colorfully staged, costumed and lighted.

Concerts for the new season have been scheduled for the evenings instead of Sunday afternoons as in the past.

Although the membership drive was concluded, through special arrangements with Summy - Birchard Concert & Artists Division of New York, memberships still may be obtained writing to the association at Box 645. Admission will be by membership card only and there will be no single tickets sold.

Stecher & Horowitz, duo pianists, who were brought back by popular request, will perform the evening of Feb. 23. Both New Yorkers, Melvin Stecher and Norman Horowitz have traveled down just as many musical roads as the Steinway two - piano van can go. Solidly grounded in the classics, ardent and intensive students of both their instrument and its literature, they are youthfully mindful of today's tastes, sponsors said.

Scheduled for March 25 is the Allegro American Ballet Co., which was secured in the place of Joy Kim, pianist, who was not able to place this locality in her itinerary. Marie Comstock, founder of the ballet company, has Doreen Tempest and Robert Lunnon of the Royal Ballet Company of London among her group. The company has reached artistic maturity through their combined efforts. For the Sadler - Wells Ballet, they use elaborate costumes and decor.

"La Boheme" will be presented by the Turnau Opera Players in a return engagement May 10. The group, which gave the "The Barber of Seville" here last year, presents the opera in English. The company of 10 include eight singers, a stage manager and musical director-accompanist. The success of the group is attributed to its youth and enthusiasm shown in all of their productions, according to Paul Blair, president of the association.

Firm Scheduled To Push Chester Post Office Job

The F. & S. Construction Co. of Steubenville expects to commence work on laying brick and block walls in about a week at the new Chester Post Office building. The foundation already has been built, Dan Schiappa, president, said.

Schiappa reported additional excavating at the site is planned this week by the Fuccy Hauling & Excavating Co. of New Cumberland. He expects the red brick facility on the north side of Carolina Ave. between 3rd and 4th Sts. to be completed about the middle of January. The cost of the building will be about $62,000.

The Steubenville concern also is contractor for a new Post Office on Ridge Ave. in New Cumberland, and work is well along. Schiappa said crews will install the roof this week, and move inside later for finishing the interior.

Schiappa said crews are about two - thirds finished with erecting the walls at the new post office in Lisbon. It will be a brick building with a Colonial front.

Sweet Adeline Event

Full House Sees Singers' Parade

By CLARA HALL

Mardi Gras, the time of revelry and romance, was demonstrated elaborately when Sweet Adelines, Inc., presented their fifth annual parade of quartets to a full house Saturday night at Westgate School.

Proving to be one of the most colorful productions, the chorus members went down the aisle wearing mummery headgear from Mickey Mouse to Smoky the Bear. Brightly - colored clown ruffles at the neckline and wrists added an accent to their white sheath dresses. Whistles and streamers provided the carnival atmosphere.

THE BACKGROUND on the stage included a sparkling blue fountain, a large weeping willow tree, an improvised wrought iron balcony and many floral arrangements in tall receptacles. The silver decorated orange program booklets featured photographs of the chorus, director and participating quartets.

MRS. SONYA ROSE, show chairman and immediate past president, was named "Adeline of the Year." She received the crown, plaque and corsage from Mrs. Ruth Rinehart, last year's winner.

Two SPEBSQSA quartets were featured in the first part of the program. The Westinghouse Quartet from Pittsburgh presented a couple of novelty numbers, "The Spaniard That Blighted My Life," featuring a female mimic, and a humorous aria from the opera, "Rigoletto," in which they used bells. The group comprised of Alvin Headrick, Walter Eibeck, John Power and James Tepe, are past Johnny Appleseed District champions.

Wearing bright green brocade Mandarin - style dresses "The China Belles" of the local chapter sang "Banjo's Back in Town" and "Peaceful River," the numbers they sang last spring when they entered their first competition at Washington, D. C. Mrs. Juanita Garver, Mrs. Nancy Beaver, Mrs. Loretta Willoughby and Mrs. Dietz plan to enter the contest in March at New York City.

THE PRIDE of the local chapter, "The Heathertones," who won the international competition last fall at Toronto, Canada, wore their sparkling crowns and satin capes. Among their selections was a catchy tune, "Step Up And Say Hello." The queens of harmony are Mrs. Lorida Harvey, Mrs. Betty Pettibon, Miss Norma Jones and Mrs. Bette Damaska. Next Saturday night, they will be in Minneapolis, where they will crown the newly - named champions.

The Gibson Girls of the Golden Triangle Chapter in Pittsburgh presented a clever musical skit in place of routine performance. With four hat trees, complete with mirrors, as stage props, they sang popular numbers of several eras modeling the chapeau that went along with that period.

THE AUDIENCE joined in the clapping for the number, "In Those Cotton Fields Back Home." Jones read the narration. Mrs. Anne McKay, Mrs. Naomi Haberlein, Mrs. Irene Beutler and Miss Gladys Clarke form the group, international champions.

At the after - glo at St. Aloysius Parochial School Hall, the place also featured an atmosphere of festivity with balloons and streamers suspended from the ceiling. The individual tables were decorated with favors consisting of masks, whistles, balloons and mint cups.

—:—

MRS. ROSE presented several gifts to the director in behalf of the chapter. Woods has resigned, as he plans to complete his schooling for a degree in electrical engineering. He received a standing ovation because of his work since the inception of the chapter, which he was instrumental in organizing.

The China Belles sang an original song, "Best of All Directors," set to the tune of "Sweetest Little Fellow." Mrs. Dietz was mistress of ceremonies and all the quartets and the chorus performed.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I could kiss you for printing that letter from Lady Godiva, the woman who enjoys doing her housework in the nude.

For years I thought maybe I was a freak because I do the same thing. Naturally I've never breathed my secret to a soul—not even my husband. I was greatly relieved when you said it was neither immoral nor sick, and that so long as she kept her shades down it was nobody's business.

I'm a woman in my 40s who also enjoys the freedom of doing her housework in the nude. I can bend and stretch, unencumbered. Now I zip right through this eight-room house in less than two hours. Thank you, Ann. You've made me very happy. — ANOTHER JAYBIRD.

Dear Bird: Apparently I made a great many women happy. A staggering number of housewives wrote to confide that they, too, enjoy cleaning house in the altogether. Here's another Jaybird from Memphis:

Dear Ann: Tell Lady Godiva she's not crazy and she's not alone. I've been doing my housework in my birthday suit for 20 years. I consider myself normal and intelligent.

As a bride I was forever sewing torn seams and restitching pockets which had caught on knobs. One day I took off my house dress when I got soaked to the skin. (A frying pan plopped into the dishwater.) I so enjoyed the feeling of freedom that I've been cleaning house in the nude ever since.

I can report only one minor mishap. Several months ago while ironing a bed sheet I stood a little too close to the board and burned my stomach. Nothing serious — just painful. Please warn the girls. — ME—IN THE FLESH.

Dear You: Sorry about your stomach, Dearie. Take note, Jaybirds.

Other hazards of prancing about unclothed are described in the next letter from Louisville.

Dear Ann: I used to do my housework in the nude but a recent experience cured me. Our minister expressed the wish to see our new baby. The time set for his visit was 2 p.m.

I was fresh out of coffee cream and phoned my neighbor to ask if she's bring over half a bottle. She said, "I'll be there in a few minutes."

I was rushing around (in the nude, as usual) trying to get the house tidied up when the doorbell rang. I grabbed a face towel to wrap around my middle so I could reach out for the coffee cream. I opened the door quickly and shouted, "Boy, am I glad to see you, Honey!"

To my everlasting shame it was the minister. He was so startled his glasses almost fell off. He mumbled, "I'll be back next week when I can bring my wife."

I slammed the door shut and just sat there and shook for 20 minutes. To this day I'm unable to look him in the face. (P.S. You can be sure I'm no longer a nudist.) — STILL BLUSHING.

Dear Blushing: The next letter from Kansas City may be a comfort.

Dear Ann: I wonder if Lady Godiva saw the news item in the paper about an Ohio housewife. She was doing her laundry in the basement and impulsively decided to take off the soiled house dress she was wearing and throw it into the machine.

Her hair had just been set in pin curls and the pipes overhead were leaking. She spotted her son's football helmet and put it on her head. There she was, stark naked (except for the football helmet), when she heard a cough. The woman turned around and found herself staring into the face of the meter reader from the gas or electric company.

As he headed for the door his only comment was, "I hope your team wins, Lady.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Thieves Bind Widow, Get $12,000 At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Four men bound and gagged the widow of a Northampton physician in her home Sunday night and stole about $12,000 in cash and jewelry, Summit County sheriff's deputies reported. The woman, Mrs. Maybelle Wharton, freed herself after the men escaped and called the sheriff's office. Deputies said the men fled in Mrs. Wharton's automobile.

Mrs. Wharton's husband, Dr. L. Earl Wharton, died in 1957 after attempting to cut off his wife from his estate. He buried more than $32,000 beneath a dog kennel next to his home, in an apparent attempt to keep the money from being probated. The money was found in 1958.

Note to new cooks: never forget that poultry stuffings expand during roasting and that the dressing should never be tightly packed when the bird is stuffed.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I could kiss you for printing that letter from Lady Godiva, the woman who enjoys doing her housework in the nude.

For years I thought maybe I was a freak because I do the same thing. Naturally I've never breathed my secret to a soul —not even my husband. I was greatly relieved when you said it was neither immoral nor sick, and that so long as she kept her shades down it was nobody's business.

I'm a woman in my 40s who also enjoys the freedom of doing her housework in the nude. I can bend and stretch, unencumbered. Now I zip right through this eight-room house in less than two hours. Thank you, Ann. You've made me very happy. — ANOTHER JAYBIRD.

Dear Bird: Apparently I made a great many women happy. A staggering number of housewives wrote to confide that they, too, enjoy cleaning house in the altogether. Here's another Jaybird from Memphis:

Dear Ann: Tell Lady Godiva she's not crazy and she's not alone. I've been doing my housework in my birthday suit for 20 years. I consider myself normal and intelligent.

As a bride I was forever sewing torn seams and restitching pockets which had caught on knobs. One day I took off my house dress when I got soaked to the skin. (A frying pan plopped into the dishwater.) I so enjoyed the feeling of freedom that I've been cleaning house in the nude ever since.

I can report only one minor mishap. Several months ago while ironing a bed sheet I stood a little too close to the board and burned my stomach. Nothing serious — just painful. Please warn the girls. — ME—IN THE FLESH.

Dear You: Sorry about your stomach, Dearie. Take note, Jaybirds.

Other hazards of prancing about unclothed are described in the next letter from Louisville.

Dear Ann: I used to do my housework in the nude but a recent experience cured me. Our minister expressed the wish to see our new baby. The time set for his visit was 2 p.m.

I was fresh out of coffee cream and phoned my neighbor to ask if she's bring over half a bottle. She said, "I'll be there in a few minutes."

I was rushing around (in the nude, as usual) trying to get the house tidied up when the doorbell rang. I grabbed a face towel to wrap around my middle so I could reach out for the coffee cream. I opened the door quickly and shouted, "Boy, am I glad to see you, Honey!"

To my everlasting shame it was the minister. He was so startled his glasses almost fell off. He mumbled, "I'll be back next week when I can bring my wife."

I slammed the door shut and just sat there and shook for 20 minutes. To this day I'm unable to look him in the face. (P.S. You can be sure I'm no longer a nudist.) — STILL BLUSHING.

Dear Blushing: The next letter from Kansas City may be a comfort.

Dear Ann: I wonder if Lady Godiva saw the news item in the paper about an Ohio housewife. She was doing her laundry in the basement and impulsively decided to take off the soiled house dress she was wearing and throw it into the machine.

Her hair had just been set in pin curls and the pipes overhead were leaking. She spotted her son's football helmet and put it on her head. There she was, stark naked (except for the football helmet), when she heard a cough. The woman turned around and found herself staring into the face of the meter reader from the gas or electric company.

As he headed for the door his only comment was, "I hope your team wins, Lady.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Thieves Bind Widow, Get $12,000 At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Four men bound and gagged the widow of a Northampton physician in her home Sunday night and stole about $12,000 in cash and jewelry, Summit County sheriff's deputies reported. The woman, Mrs. Maybelle Wharton, freed herself after the men escaped and called the sheriff's office. Deputies said the men fled in Mrs. Wharton's automobile.

Mrs. Wharton's husband, Dr. L. Earl Wharton, died in 1957 after attempting to cut off his wife from his estate. He buried more than $32,000 beneath a dog kennel next to his home, in an apparent attempt to keep the money from being probated. The money was found in 1958.

Note to new cooks: never forget that poultry stuffings expand during roasting and that the dressing should never be tightly packed when the bird is stuffed.

Strange Medley For Election Rises In Western U.S.

By ROB WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — From the sparse settlements of the badlands, from the valley towns of the Rockies, from the teeming cities of the Pacific slope, a strange medley is rising in the West.

It is a political cacophony made up of three themes:

1. Earnest support of Lyndon B. Johnson. The comment of Mrs. Albert Becco, part-time hospital employee at Pueblo, Colo., is typical: "I like Johnson because he says he loves everyone. I mean I think he's interested in all the people."

2. Dedicated backing for Barry Goldwater. Example: Mrs. Gene A. Williams, housewife, of Olympia, Wash., who said she was a Democrat for some years: "I'm going to vote for Goldwater because I think he would be more responsible with my money."

3. The plague-on-both houses theme. E. D. Hovde, a state highway engineer from San Francisco, said: "We've got two lousy candidates."

An unusual aspect of this presidential contest is the apparent strength of this third school of thought, composed of people who either won't vote or, if they do, will vote against somebody rather than for somebody.

There seems to be considerable yearning for another choice — for some unidentified man who isn't there. This yearning was put into words by Sharon Atzeni, a parking lot attendant in Tucson, Ariz.:

"I don't think Johnson is a very good President. I think Goldwater would be worse. I'd sure like to have more of a choice."

These quotes, and many others, were gathered by Associated Press reporters as they interviewed people at random in 13 states — New Mexico, Arizona, California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Idaho, Alaska, Hawaii.

These states represent 95 electoral votes out of a total of 538. It is largely from the West, plus the Midwest and South that Goldwater has been hoping to put together the required victory total of 270.

The The New York Times, after a nationwide survey, says that as of now Goldwater is generally considered certain to carry only two states, Mississippi and Alabama, with eight others appearing to favor him.

In California, with its weighty total of 40 electoral votes, Goldwater is considered "dead," the Times says.

A voice long powerful in California Republican circles was raised for Goldwater last Sunday, however, when the Los Angeles Times came out for him. California's biggest newspaper laid great stress on GOP principles which, it said, have best served individual liberty and free enterprise.

In the stretch drive to the Nov. 3 election, Goldwater strategists are counting heavily on two factors: (1) Dedicated zeal by his campaign workers, the kind of people who put him across at the San Francisco convention, and (2) Possible over-confidence on the part of the Democrats.

A variety of issues figure differently in various parts of the vast West. Viet Nam is of concern in Hawaii, less so in New Mexico. Civil rights, and the extent of the possible white backlash, are talking points in metropolitan Los Angeles and San Francisco.

A Yakima, Wash., housewife said that should Goldwater win she would live in fear that he might push the atomic button.

An Albuquerque, N.M., woman, with sons in the military service, said there was nothing to fear from the GOP candidate.

The Denver Post reported Sept. 20 that a Colorado poll made for the paper by a private survey organization showed 68 per cent favored Johnson, 26 per cent Goldwater and 6 per cent were undecided.

An undecided voter is John Devore, Denver insurance broker. He told a newsman that he is "a good Republican" who is "hoping Goldwater can convince me by election time that I should vote for him."

Devore added: "I just could not vote for Johnson. I don't believe in the give-away philosophy of the Democratic party."

Here are some more sample comments in the big electoral argument:

Mrs. Richard Beckman, wife of a Morland, Wyo., automobile parts salesman: "One candidate is always changing his mind and the other is politically unethical — so what choice do we have?"

In Sausalito, Calif., boat repairman Frederick Koellner said: "I am not voting for president this year. I won't vote for Goldwater and I can't vote for Johnson."

Consumption Of Steel Will Hit New Mark

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel production appears headed for a record this year, but the thing that steel marketers are most excited about is the prospect of a whopping record for consumption of steel as well, the magazine Steel reported today.

Consumption "is going to be higher this year than ever before," the trade publication predicted. "It will probably beat the record set last year (an estimated 77.8 million product tons) by more than five million tons. It will reach a new peak by keeping pace with the economy's record preformance.

The metalworking weekly said that because "we've lost the big advantage we had in foreign trade," record consumption won't necessarily mean record shipments.

"In 1955, the year mill shipments hit an all-time high of 84.7 million tons, we had a foreign surplus of nearly three million tons. This year, we'll probably have a trade deficit larger than that."

Shipments will total at least 83.5 million tons, Steel said, if steel ingot production reaches the predicted record level of 125 million tons.

Steel said estimated production of 2.6 million tons last week was expected to be topped this week. Operations now are at the annual rate of 135 million ingot tons, the highest level for more than a year.

Steel price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steel scrap held at $36.50 a gross ton, unchanged for the third straight week.

Museum Visited By City Cub Pack

Members of Cub Pack 60, sponsored by St. Ann Catholic Church in East End, made a visit Sunday afternoon to the Thomasville Museum near Youngstown.

The cubs were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Don Ramsey and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Maola. The boys received Communion in a group Sunday at the 8 a. m. Mass at St. Ann.

Steel said the "dramatic growth" in steel consumption "makes steel producers feel that they're turning the corner in their battle with competitive materials."

The metalworking weekly said that because "we've lost the big advantage we had in foreign trade," record consumption won't necessarily mean record shipments.

"In 1955, the year mill shipments hit an all-time high of 84.7 million tons, we had a foreign surplus of nearly three million tons. This year, we'll probably have a trade deficit larger than that."

Shipments will total at least 83.5 million tons, Steel said, if steel ingot production reaches the predicted record level of 125 million tons.

Steel said estimated production of 2.6 million tons last week was expected to be topped this week. Operations now are at the annual rate of 135 million ingot tons, the highest level for more than a year.

Steel price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steel scrap held at $36.50 a gross ton, unchanged for the third straight week.

Museum Visited By City Cub Pack

Members of Cub Pack 60, sponsored by St. Ann Catholic Church in East End, made a visit Sunday afternoon to the Thomasville Museum near Youngstown.

Clarence Thomas constructed the model village to revive the flavor of the past, including a tiny jail and firehouse.

The cubs were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Don Ramsey and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Maola. The boys received Communion in a group Sunday at the 8 a. m. Mass at St. Ann.

The annual Halloween party will highlight the meeting next Sunday night at 7 in the church hall.

Paint-Stuck Windows Can Be Easily Freed

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Most home owners probably have one or more windows which are stuck because of careless painting.

This national problem has been prescribed for in many different ways, but many of the methods suggested are bad medicine for the window sash and result in strained units and open joints. As a result, the sticking windows are usually left as is, and are a constant source or irritation to the householder.

When a window is really stuck tight, no amount of banging and straining is going to free it. And the more often the house or interior trim is painted, the more firm is the closure. It takes just one good operation to remedy the complaint, and the job can be done by anyone owning a chisel and a hammer.

All double - hung sashes are installed in the same manner. There is a bead of molding running up over the sides of the sash. It is the joint between this and the sash which is filled with paint and which is the principal cause of a window sticking.

This molding can be neatly lifted off by tapping the end of a sharp wood chisel into the joint where it sets on the window casing trim. If the job is done carefully, there will be a minimum of damage to the paint and wood.

When the molding is removed a slight tapping with the hammer will be enough to free any other joints which also may be paint-filled and the sash will move freely once more. This is also a good time to lubricate the grooves in which the sash slides up and down, and then the molding can be replaced.

When windows are painted they should be left in a half-open position and they should be moved a few times as the paint is setting. If this precaution is taken, the home owner will avoid trouble and eliminate what is a major defect in his home.

You can prepare a delicious cheese spread by using soft cheddar cheese mixed with a little sherry or port.

Good Lights Termed Vital In Workshop

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The best type of lighting for your home workshop is natural light from above.

Since it is rarely available—because most home workshops necessarily are located in basements, utility rooms in houses on concrete slabs, or garages—the goal should be an approximation of this natural light.

This doesn't mean making the workshop as bright as possible. A room too brilliantly lighted can produce fatigue, which is a companion to an accident in or out of a home workshop.

The ideal lighting situation is one in which there is good general lighting throughout the workshop, with extra light concentrated in the working areas.

Thus, even if the shop has a good overhead light that leaves no dark corners, it is wise to have a special light over the work bench, another over the table saw, and so on. The main light should be turned on whenever work is being done in the shop — and should be left on even when one of the special lights is being used.

Clamp - on reflector lights, overhead lights that move on horizontal wire setups and various kinds of incandescent and flourescent fixtures are available, many of them made especially for home workshops.

A new type of light getting attention lately is the miniature high intensity lamp, developed only a few years ago by Jay Monroe, a Forest Hills, N. Y., electrical engineer.

This type of lamp provides white light of a high intensity from an amazingly small lamp. It uses 6 or 12-volt bulbs. A special, tiny transformer turns the ordinary 120 volts of house current into 6 or 12 volts. While the bulbs have less life than equivalent conventional incandescents, they use less electricity.

While miniature high intensity lamps are being used for such things as sewing, reading in bed and studying, they are especially useful in the home workshop for precision jobs where concentrated light is necessary.

In deciding what kind of lights and how many you need for your workshop, the principle is much the same as for other areas of the house. The darker the color of the walls, floors and ceiling, the more light is required. This is especially important in floors. Many home owners who decide to put resilient tiles on a workshop floor make the mistake of selecting dark colors.

Adjustment Tips Offered For Bit

Question: Among a quantity of tools a neighbor gave me before he moved away was an expansive bit. At least, that's the name imprinted on the side of it. I know it's for drilling holes, but how is it adjusted?

Answer: An expansive bit (sometimes called an expansion bit) takes the place of several different - size bits, since it cuts holes of various sizes.

You'll see a screw down near the cutting end. This screw is for adjusting the cutter. On most bits, one complete turn enlarges or reduces the size of the hole to be cut by ⅛", a half-turn by 1-16". A little testing with the bit you have will determine how to make the adjustments. Because of the cutting action of an expansive bit, it has a tendency to split or splinter the wood as the point goes through. To prevent this, clamp a piece of scrap wood to the back of the wood being drilled.

QUESTION: I have heard that a small pipe leak can be repaired with fiber glass. How is this possible?

Answer: It's done with a kind of fiber glass cloth that is wound around the area of the leak. However, the cloth must be coated with an epoxy resin both before and after it is tightened around the pipe. When the resin hardens, it blocks the hole in the pipe and is waterproof.

Taft Raps Democrats On Social Security Bill

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Rep. Robert Taft Jr., accused the Johnson administration today of scuttling the bill to increase Social Security benefits because the President's medicare bill failed to clear Congress.

The Ohio Congressman - at-large, making a campaign swing through Erie and Huron counties, said "the whole bill was abandoned, simply because the Democrats could not have their way."

The Cincinnati Republican, seeking the seat now held by Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young of Cleveland, charged President Johnson's administration and Democrat congressional leaders with "either a display of political pique or an attempt to create a phony issue."

Blaze Destroys Co-Op Structure At Lebanon

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Fire Chief William Rainey blames defective wiring for the fire that destroyed the Lebanon Farmers Co-op building Saturday and caused almost $130,000 damage.

Firemen battled the blaze near the downtown area for more than three hours.

Indoor-Outdoor Den Delights Man

EVERY MAN NEEDS a lair of his own, and here's the ideal—a cozy studio extended outdoors with a private patio walled in resawn western red cedar. Studio's interior features a man's choice of deep colors and crispy styled furniture, complemented by solid board paneling in vertical grain west coast hemlock.

When designing a den, keep the man in your life in mind. Soundproof the room with carpeting and with solid lumber paneling which also will provide that much-needed masculine atomosphere.

Western woods are a man's favorite for paneling. Winning increased popularity are the soft-colored species, like west coast hemlock. Ponderosa pine and Idaho white pine are two other favorites for a man's room.

These woods are especially good for the small den, where fine graining and light colors expand space. Finished clear with a penetrating sealer-finish coat, or with one of the new lacquers that are brushed on but have a hand-rubbed look, hemlock and the pines rate tops in appearance.

Furnishings for the studio should be clean - lined and comfortable, of course. Give him a crisply- styled desk and chair, a sofa for snoozing and a good reading light. He'll also need built-ins for books, cameras and hobby equipment.

Built-ins should be tailored for their specific job and the studio will look its best if the storage units are designed to match the paneling. Tongue-and-groove material can be used for cabinet fronts and doors.

Now for an extra fillip sure to win a man's raves, extend the den outdoors with a private, walled patio or deck. If he's a nature lover, he'll enjoy quiet moments outdoors in sunlight or under the stars. The privacy screens can be built with resawn western red cedar siding lumber applied to a conventional frame, and no finishing is necessary.

Housing Anti-Bias Policy Endorsed By Association

COLUMBUS—The Ohio Home Builders Association at a recent meeting of its Board of Trustees, comprised of representatives from 25 affiliated local associations throughout Ohio, unanimously adopted a resolution with regard to its policy on anti-bias in housing accommodations.

The action was announced by Arthur W. Hesselman of Canton, president. He was joined in the statement by William E. Safreed, executive vice president of the association with headquarters here. The resolution follows:

"Be it resolved that the members of the Ohio Home Builders Association are in full support of the principles contained in the National Association of Home Builders policy statement for 1964 in which it is stated that 'for many years, the home - building industry has pointed out that discrimination in housing does not arise from builder bias, but results from the emotions and deep-seated attitudes of our customers' and further that 'as in the past, the home-building industry will continue to cooperate in communitywide educational programs to eliminate prejudices affecting the housing market and will continue to do its part in practical efforts to provide good housing for all Americans.'

"We, in the Ohio Home Builders Association, further recognize that we have arrived at a moment in the history of our state and nation when we must clearly take our stand in regard to equal opportunity in housing for all people, but we do remain firm in our stand of preference for voluntary and free initiative in such matters as against the enactment of compulsory legislation at the local and state levels because of the inherent and sound principles of constitutionality involved.

"Therefore, we declare our policy of equal opportunity in housing and call upon all others in the housing industry in the state of Ohio to join in, so that this becomes a voluntary policy for all people involved in the rental and sale of housing facilities in Ohio."

The Ohio Home Builders Association is comprised of 3,500 members who provide annually nearly 80 per cent of the housing facilities for families in Ohio.

Modernization Can Provide New Kitchen In Older Home

Since the kitchen is the spot for cooking, it's an ideal candidate for cooking up a new look in your home.

According to the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau of Chicago, it isn't necessary to move to enjoy the benefits of a modern kitchen. The home you have right now can easily be made that way. There's nothing a new kitchen has, in fact, that you can't have in yours.

The basic floor plan of your new kitchen, whether corridor type, L-shaped or U-shaped, depends on the arrangement of the three major items in the room — sink, range and refrigerator.

Since most kitchen activity centers around the sink, careful consideration should be given to selecting the right kind. Size is the primary criterion. Whether you choose a single, double or new triple-bowl sink, you should be sure you are providing adequate facilities for both meal preparation and cleanup afterward.

In addition to the new sink, you will want to consider some of the other time and worksavers available for the kitchen today. Two of the best chore relievers ever developed for the housewife are the automatic dishwasher and food waste disposer. Together, they save hours of unpleasant work every day and improve sanitation, as well.

Other new kitchen products joining the "old standbys" are single control faucets for sinks, water - connected refrigerators for automatic ice-cube making, instant ice water, boiling water and built-in coffee - dispensing devices and combination hose spray and dishwashing brushes.

Before you begin any plumbing for a modernized kitchen, contact an experienced plumbing contractor. He is the one best-qualified to help you select the kitchen plan that will meet your needs now and in the future if you wish to make further additions.

Ohio Suspect Indicted For Michigan Holdup

BRYAN, Ohio (AP)—A Holland, Ohio, man, picked up unarmed in neighboring Fulton County over the weekend, has been indicted for armed robbery in the $5,900 holdup last Tuesday of the Pioneer Banking Co. in Pioneer, near the Michigan line.

Williams County prosecutor William H. Weaver said Orville E. Culp, 26, was indicted last Friday by a county grand jury before his arrest Saturday near Wauseon in Fulton County.

The holdup money and a sawed-off shootgun were found earlier in a barn near Wauseon.

Indoor-Outdoor Den Delights Man

By BISHOP MUSSIO
Of Steubenville Diocese

The schema on Revelation, which has had a rough time, is being considered at this third session of the Ecumenical Council.

During the first session, Pope John directed that it be re-written because as it was first presented it did not represent the thinking of modern scholars nor did it meet with the favor of the majority of the bishops. During this session, when the re-written Revelations schema was presented we approved the subject matter because now it is in accord with the mind and spirit of this Council.

Our opposition to its first form was that it put the doctrine of Tradition in a false light. We do not wish in any way to create misunderstanding because of the use of a wrong word or reliance on out-moded similes.

Many good people thought that the Church's doctrine of Tradition side - stepped Christ's written word; that it was something the Church used to add to her laws. And so we heard much talk about two sources of doctrine — scripture and tradition— the first from Christ, the other from the Church.

This offended our separated brothers and its twisted concept smarted our own ears. We Catholics caused most of the trouble here by using terms that date from ancient times. The truth is that Christ is the one and only source of all we believe and do. This is said clearly in the revised schema.

To explain briefly, Christ told the apostles to preach the gospel. This they did by preaching, by example, by instruction, by writing. In all this they were aided by the Holy Spirit as Christ promised. The apostles handed down to their successors this same gospel preaching. The Church then gives to all generations everything she has and believes in. This teaching of the church is the living tradition. It is the promise of divine guidance in her teachings.

Both scripture and tradition have the same source — Christ, the Word of God, His words set to writing, His teachings preached by the apostles and their successors. Both are aided by the Holy Spirit; both accepted with trust and loyalty. There is only one deposit of the Word of God, the Church cannot add anything which Christ did not put there. The church's teaching office is not above the Word of God—it can teach only what Christ has handed down.

The emphasis must be placed where it belongs — the teaching of Christ. We must want, in our lives, what Christ wants; our salvation depends on both having and living His truths. The core of this entire schema is that we are not going back into history to find out what happened in the past, but rather in the Holy Spirit we live today, we live the fullness of Christ present in His truth. His grace and the daily fulfillment of His promises. That is why this Council is exciting and up-to-date. We are trying to put Christ where He is, here, now, in the midst of our modern age.

Grounded Pilots Handle The Fate of Model Planes

SPIRITS SOAR in the cockpits of model planes even though the pilot never leaves the ground. When a small scale motor, whining like an angry bee, carries a craft aloft, the owner is up there too, but only by radio control.

Since 1952, when the Federal Communications Commission established the Citizens Radio Service frequencies, remote control of model planes and boats has become a fast-growing hobby. Squadrone Escarole in New York's Westchester County is typical of mushrooming model plane clubs. A love of flying has brought together a doctor, businessmen, students, a restaurant owner and two horticulturists.

Each flyer-builder has between $75 and $500 invested in his hobby. Intricate multi-channel radio transmitters and miniaturized receivers send the price up as well as the plane. Transmitters can control engine speed and operate ailerons, elevators and rudders. Club members belong to the Academy of Model Aeronautics in Washington, D.C., which insures them each for $100,000 against personal or property liability. Damage to the plane, however, is the pilot's own loss. A transmitter controls a plane within sight, but a radio-controlled garage door or a walkie-talkie in the area can break contact and—crash! A tree gets in the way—crash!

A fringe benefit of model flight is the actual testing of radical new plane designs and components of space vehicles and missiles. With fun, education and a purpose involved, things are definitely looking up for model plane hobbyists.

Ready for an afternoon of flying, model craft built by Squadrone Escarole members are awaiting takeoff. Flights last about ten minutes, far short of United States records of several hours.

The pilot moves almost as fast as his plane when the model aircraft comes in closer to the edge of the landing strip than he had planned.

Junior Editors Quiz on SEA MILES

QUESTION: What do knots mean when speaking of a boat's speed?

ANSWER: The land mile was a unit of measurement first used by the Romans and fixed by the English in 1500 at 5,280 feet. But this land mile did not agree with measurements being used at sea, which were based on the 360 degrees encircling the earth. Calculations by navigators gave a nautical or sea mile of 6,080 feet—slightly longer than a land mile. A knot is a sea mile, but is used to measure speed, not distance. You wouldn't say "that island is four knots away" but you might say "this boat is travelling at 4 knots"—meaning moving at a speed which would take it 4 sea miles in one hour. "Knot" used in this way comes from old sailing ship days. A small weighted board, the "chip log," attached to a line, would be dropped over the ship's stern. The line was knotted each interval of 47 feet 3 inches, one knot for the first interval, two for the second and so on. The chip floated on the same spot as the line, unwinding from a reel, and was drawn out as the ship sailed ahead. A sailor turned a sandglass arranged to show when 28 seconds passed. Then it would be noted what group of knots was passing the rail. In the picture it is nine knots, so the ship is sailing at nine knots.

FOR YOU TO DO: The old clipper ship Lightning made a famous record—436 sea miles in 24 hours. Figure out how fast per hour she must have sailed on that day.

Ohio Lists 23 Road Deaths On Weekend

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Traffic accidents took another heavy toll of lives this past week end, killing at least 23 persons.

It was the second October weekend with more than 20 traffic deaths and brought the month's total to at least 44 dead.

With three weekends to go, October may become the most deadly month so far this year. The worst previous month, August, also a five-weekend month, had a total of 84 traffic deaths.

Most of the accidents this past weekend were single fatality crashes. Three accidents claimed two lives each, and near Bluffton, tragedy struck a Boy Scout outing when a motorist ran into a group of Scouts marching to a football game. One was killed and three injured.

Among eastern Ohio deaths were:

Sunday

Leonard Lee Banks, 31, of Indianapolis, in a car-truck collision on U. S. 40 near Brookville in Montgomery County.

Pauline Luttrell, 59, of St. Paris in Champaign County, when her car crashed into the side of a freight train in Champaign County about five miles east of the Miami County line.

Harold B. Burgess, 22, Akron, a passenger in a car which struck a utility pole in East Akron.

Carl Gilbert, 78, Morrow, Warren County, in a two-car collision about seven miles northwest of Wilmington.

Freda Ullman, 75, and Shella Lovett, 80, both of Beverly, Washington County, in a car-truck collision about 10 miles west of Marietta.

Saturday

Victor G. Harper, 64, and wife, Audrey, 55, Chillicothe, in a two-car collision on U. S. 50 four miles west of Athens.

Alice Koeber, 71, and Helen Boude, 67, both of Dayton, when their car went out of control after passing a truck and overturned on Ohio 16 eight miles northwest of Coshocton.

Dean Edward Apger, 38, Rt. 6, Mansfield, in a two-car head-on collision on U. S. 30S 10 miles west of Mansfield.

Irene Mae Farley, 62, Columbus, when her car went out of control on Interstate 70 east of St. Clairsville.

Robert Stowe, 12, Ottawa, one of a group of 160 Boy Scouts marching on a rural road near Bluffton when a car attempting to pass the group was forced into the boys by an oncoming car.

Mrs. Edna C. Picket, 74, of near Bellevue, when her car hit a tree two miles north of Bellevue.

Radio Aids Rescue Of Downed Airmen

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — The chances of a quick rescue for drowned airmen, even if they are injured or unconscious, is increased considerably by a new vest pocket, two-way radio, according to Sylvania Electric Products Inc.

The company is delivering the new radio to the U.S. Navy.

The unit provides two-way communication between downed airmen and searching ships or aircraft and it automatically emits a signal on a distress frequency as soon as a flier's parachute opens. The set's battery furnishes enough power to operate the signal 24 hours.

It is said to be the first operational ultra - high - frequency radio built using thin film circuit wafers.

Who benefits from Ohio Bell's expanded construction program?

You do .... as one of some 2,000,000 Ohio Bell customers who demand .... and get the very finest service at rates among the lowest in the nation. You do . . . as a citizen of Ohio, because Ohio Bell's record-breaking construction program is giving a hefty boost to Ohio's economy. But specifically .... what are some of the things you get out of it as a telephone user?

DIRECT DISTANCE DIALING

Direct Distance Dialing—dialing your own long distance numbers direct—is being improved in the communities where it's already installed, and introduced in many that didn't have it before. Our aim? 100% dialing of all calls—both local and long distance.

We're continuing to add equipment that "jots down" your phone number automatically and with complete accuracy. This way you can dial long distance direct—without pausing to give the operator your phone number. And your calls go through faster.

Within two years all of our customers will first dial "1" for their D.D.D. calls. This tells our dial network that you want to call long distance station-to-station. Makes dialing uniform—and more dependable.

MORE DEPENDABLE, TROUBLE-FREE SERVICE

. . . long distance calls are going "Hi-Fi"

Since the first fuzzy messages came through primitive telephone instruments, science has provided one break-through after another—until today, through improved equipment, your long distance calls are so clear that nobody ever thinks to say any more, "You sound just like you're next door."

Wind, freezing rain, hail, lightning — all the elements that can disrupt telephone service — are almost no problem to miles and miles of Ohio Bell cable that are being placed underground.

More than half our long distance calls travel via microwave. It's the best way to handle the mushrooming volume of long distance calls, data transmission — even network television shows.

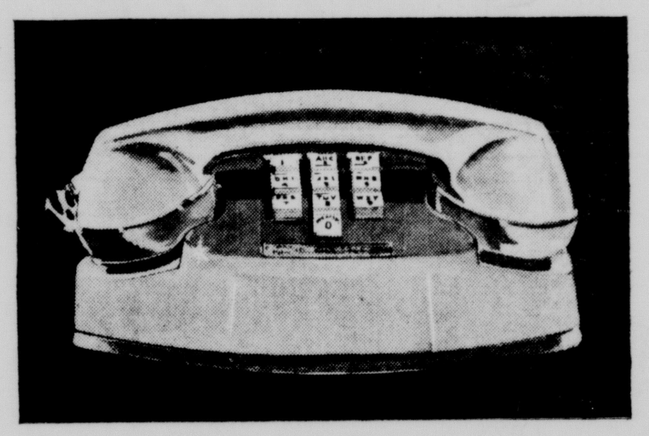
It's unusual for one of our phones to need service more than once in five years. But when you need repair service, you want it as soon as possible. And of course, there is never an additional charge for our maintenance and repair work. It's part of your regular service!

Individual Lines and Local Calls—

The trend continues: More people want individual lines than ever. Today 71% of our residence customers have this service. The multi-party rural line is almost a thing of the past. And with this, we keep adding equipment to extend local free calling areas.



Glamorous TOUCH-TONE® Phones—being introduced throughout Ohio.

Truly the telephone of tomorrow—here today. No dialing, just quickly and lightly touch the numbered buttons and presto!—pleasant electronic tones speed your call on its way. It's the official telephone of the New York World's Fair—and special new equipment is being installed in our exchanges to accelerate the introduction of Touch-Tone phones to Ohio Bell customers.

The recent federal income tax cut enabled us to accelerate an already record-high construction program. During 1964 and 1965, we will invest over $203,000,000 in new and improved services. And these construction dollars pouring into Ohio's economy mean more payroll dollars, more telephone jobs and more jobs for supporting industries. They contribute to the prosperity of Ohio and of every community we serve.

So . . . who benefits from Ohio Bell's expanded construction program? You do.
